APPORTIONMENT LAW PUT THROUGH

Senate's Handiwork is Rammed Down Objecting Throats in House.

REPUBLICANS IN PROTEST

Motion to Adjourn Ends Lively Uproar—The Proceedings at Indianapolis.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Indianapolis, March 7.—The house this morning finished the new apportionment, but there was a fight before the senate amendments were concurred in.

Eleven republican representatives united with the democrats in an attempt to defeat concurrence and Mr. Howe, a republican, even went so far as to move not to concur. His motion was tabled by a vote of 46 to 44, and then by a viva voce the senate amendments to the bill were ratified.

Then there was a scene of wild confusion, the disgruntled republicans and the minority members lifting their voices in disapproval of the speaker's action. A timely motion to adjourn was declared carried and the tumult ceased.

The house this morning voted down a motion to suspend the rules and pass Senator Smith's bill providing that in joint legislative districts, counties having an excess of delegate votes shall have only such number of delegates to conventions as the excess may be. The bill was referred to the elections committee, which means that it is dead.

The word was quietly passed around this morning that the appropriation for legislative expenses has run short $5,000. The original amount was $115,000. A special appropriation bill will have to be rushed through or some employes and members may have to borrow money to get home.

INSURANCE BILL HELD UP.

The fire insurance combine scored a victory in the senate yesterday when the bill failed of passage for want of a constitutional majority, the vote standing 23 to 18, three votes short of the constitutional requirements. The friends of the bill claim that sharp practice has been resorted to all along to delay passage of the measure. An attempt was made to kill the bill in committee by refusing to report on it. Senator Ulrey balked this plan, however, by introducing and forcing through a motion to call the bill from the committee. This was done on Thursday. The enemies of the bill contrived to get hold of the bill and it was kept from the file clerk until 11 o'clock yesterday. It was then sent to the printer and was not returned until afternoon. Then the fight began. Senator Dausman, leading the fight against the bill, moved that it be indefinitely postponed. This motion was lost by a vote of 22 to 20.

ULREY IN THE FIGHT.

Senator Ulrey, who had called the bill up, got into the fight in its defense. He spoke of the fact that all the business interests of the state are practically a unit in demanding the bill, which is designed to relieve them from the exactions of the trust.

The only people who are opposing the bill, he said, were the agents of the trust, who are naturally interested in seeing rates kept up as the companies are demanding.

The vote on the bill was close. The demand to bring in the absentees was made. One by one the senators were brought in, but it was seen that in the absence of several friends of the measure who had gone to the funeral of General Foster, that it would be impossible to pass the bill and the roll call was abandoned. The vote stood 23 to 18 in favor of passage, as follows:

For the bill: Senators Askren, Ball, Crumbaker, Crumpacker, Darby, Davis, DeHaven, Fleming, Fortune, Gard, Gochenour, Goodwine, Harrison, Kittinger, Lindley, Matson, Milburn, Newhouse, Singer, Smith, Starr, Thralls, Ulrey and Whitcomb—23.

Against the bill: Senators Barcus, Barlow, Bell, Dausman, Johnston, Lawler, Lyons, Matthews, O'Brien, Parks, Purviance, Powell, Roche, Stricler, Thompson, Wampler, Wolcott, Wood—18.

The senate also became involved in a fight over the question of concurring in proposed amendments to the Mummert improvement law and the bill has been left in a precarious position. The house agreed to the report and a motion to reconsider was tabled so that it can not re-open the question. By the senate refusing to concur in amendments offered by the conferees the bill is virtually dead unless a plan can be devised to revive in the house and appoint another conference committee.

SMITH BILL REVIVED.

The senate revived and passed Senator Smith's bill regulating the manner of making nominations for joint senators and representatives. The bill provides that where a county which is entitled to one or more senators or representatives of its own is joined with smaller counties in a joint district it shall be entitled in the conventions to make such joint nominations only to representation for the excess over the population required for its own senators or representatives. This bill, which was defeated last week, was taken up in accordance with the demand of the recalcitrants who were threatening to hold up the apportionment bill that it should go through if their votes were expected to pass the apportionment bill.

The senate failed to pass six of the house bills which had gone to third

FOUND WIFE DEAD AS HE REACHED HOME

Mrs. Charles Ruppel, Suffering from Pain in Her Head, Expires Suddenly.

Mrs. Viola Ruppel, 33 years of age, wife of Charles Ruppel, a clerk in the Jacobs meat market, Washington and Hanna streets, died very suddenly this morning at her home, 625 Madison street. Mrs. Ruppel's lifeless form was found lying upon the bed by her husband when he returned to the house at 10 o'clock today to see how his wife, who had been complaining of a severe pain in her head, was feeling. The body was still warm, and it is evident that death had ensued but a short time before.

For several days Mrs. Ruppel had been complaining of not feeling well, but her condition was not believed to be at all alarming. She arose as usual shortly before 6 o'clock this morning, and the family breakfasted at 7. A neighbor, Mrs. Kramer, called to inquire how Mrs. Ruppel was feeling and visited with her for half an hour. Though complaining of the severe pain in her head, Mrs. Ruppel expressed the belief that she would soon be better, and at 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Kramer returned to her home, leaving Mrs. Ruppel seated by the kitchen stove.

The only other person in the house was Mrs. Ruppel's brother, a lad of twelve years named Johnnie Foltz. He says that after remaining in her chair for some time Mrs. Ruppel arose, walking unsteadily, and entered her bedroom. The brother does not hear well, and though he fancied he heard a noise from the bedroom as though Mrs. Ruppel was endeavoring to speak he did not investigate. It was more than an hour later when the husband reached the house and found his wife dead.

Mr. Ruppel at once summoned Dr. McCausland, as well as other assistance, but life was extinct, and Dr. W. W. Barnett, the county coroner, was summoned. Dr. Barnett stated at noon that while there were some indications of a heart clot, it would require a post-mortem examination to disclose definitely the cause of death. This is being conducted this afternoon by Dr. A. E. VanBuskirk under the direction of the coroner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruppel were married five years ago, and surviving relatives include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Foltz, of Alanson, Mich., as well as five brothers and four sisters.

A DEVELOPMENT SCHEME RAIDED

Pittsburg Police Swoop Down on a Concern That Had a Large Business.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 7.—The police caused a sensation here today by raiding the Keystone Development company, closing the offices and arresting six officers on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. The company has been in existence about two months and has been promoting a scheme to procure homes upon small monthly payments. Up to date they have issued 3,400 contracts, and at the present rate these contracts will aggregate $20,400,000 in a year. The books are now being audited and the hearing has been fixed for next Friday.

A WAVE OF REFORM IN AFGHANISTAN

The Ameer Divorces His Wives and Fixes Four as Limit for Anybody.

RULES WITH STERN HAND

Decrees Religious Freedom and Awful Penalty for Violations.

London, March 7.—Mail advices received here from Kabul say the ameer of Afghanistan has divorced all but four of his wives. The divorced women are allowed to remarry at their pleasure and the ameer has promised life-long support to those who do not marry again. He has also decreed by beat of drum that none of his subjects shall hereafter have more than four wives and that all in excess of this number must be divorced.

The ameer is also suppressing evildoers with an iron hand. In a recent proclamation he ordered that anyone convicted of taunting another on account of his religion shall be blown from a cannon's mouth. This punishment has already been inflicted. Robbers are placed in cages, which are hung prominently in the thoroughfares as a warning to others. Another proclamation of the ameer, evidently aimed against those who attempt to corner grain, decrees that everyone possessing grain in excess of what is absolutely necessary for the support of his family for four months, shall sell it. If he fails to do so, his whole supply will be taken by force.

NEW YORK FIRM IS FORCED TO ASSIGN

Expected Help Fails and an Assignment Comes—Liabilities Heavy.

New York, March 7.—D. LeRoy Dresser and Charles Riess, doing business as commission merchants under the firm name of Dresser & Co., No. 15 Greene street, made an assignment today for the benefit of creditors to Charles S. Mackenzie.

Mr. Dresser was until a few days ago president of the Trust company of the Republic.

A mercantile agency estimated the pecuniary strength of the firm at from $200,000 to $300,000.

This is the house concerning which there have been rumors on Wall street throughout the week. Large banking interests conferred yesterday in the effort to extend assistance necessary to save the firm, but the suspension could not be averted. The president of one bank consulted about the matter said today that adjustment of the firm's affairs depended upon the willingness of a relative of one of the firm to help it through.

Such assistance, it is said, was refused yesterday, but later in the day it was thought that it would be forthcoming and the concern saved. This was found today to be impossible, so suspension resulted.

Two million dollars in the firm's paper is said to be outstanding. A considerable amount is held in this city.

A banker said: "The firm's paper is largely held, I think, by interior banks. Some of it is in New York. How this will be adjusted I do not know, but efforts will, of course, be made to avoid disturbance."

There are no preferences. Attorneys for the assignee said that the liabilities as nearly as they can be approximated, amount to about $1,250,000, and that about half of this indebtedness is secured. The nominal assets, as nearly as can be estimated in the absence of a statement, according to the attorneys, are about $750,000, and consist of cash, accounts receivable and equities in merchandise. The creditors will be called together as soon as possible and a settlement offered to them in the hope of being able to re-establish the firm of Dresser & Co. in business.

CENSUS CHIEF RESIGNS.

Washington, March 7.—Governor Merriam, director of the census, placed his resignation in the hands of the president today. It will take effect on May 15. Governor Merriam resigns to accept the vice presidency of the International Mercantile agency, of New York, and will remove from Washington to that city. The president expressed regret that Mr. Merriam had concluded to leave the government service and wished him a large measure of success in his new field. President Roosevelt, of course, has given no intimation of his intention regarding the appointment of Director Merriam's successor. Ex-Representative David H. Mercer, of Omaha, already has been recommended to the president for the appointment and several other men are said to have been mentioned for the place.

HON. J. M. ROBINSON HOME.

Congressman and Mrs. J. M. Robinson arrived in the city at 4:10 o'clock Friday evening on their return from Washington. Both are in excellent health and Mr. Robinson was about the streets today greeting old friends. He expects to remain at home during the summer vacation from congress, with the possible exception of a trip through the west.

CHARGED GUESTS WITH LARCENY

Fort Wayne Couple, Just Wed, Arrested at Bluffton But Later Released.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., March 7.—John C. Baker and wife, of Fort Wayne, were arrested here last night on the charge of larceny, the affidavit being filed by their host, Frank Straw, who charged that they had stolen from his home, while guests there, a gold watch, a ring and a necklace. They were caught by Marshal Crosbie as they were boarding the 9:30 train for Fort Wayne last night, but on being searched, none of the missing articles were found on them, and they were released. Baker had seventy-five cents after buying two tickets to Fort Wayne.

Baker and his wife, then Miss Agnes Gerber, came here last Thursday and went to the home of Frank Straw, an acquaintance of Miss Gerber's. Wednesday afternoon they were married by Justice Walbert. Both were under age and Miss Gerber was not a resident of this county, but Baker misrepresented the facts to the clerk in order to get a license. Straw saw the item concerning their marriage in an evening paper and asked his guests about it. They denied it and claimed they did not know how the report started. Thursday morning Straw investigated and on finding the item correct, ordered them from his home Friday. After they had gone the articles of jewelry were missed and the warrant was sworn out for their arrest.

TEN MEN LOSE LIFE BY BOAT CAPSIZING

A Flatboat Used as Ferry at Spiers Falls, N. Y., is Overturned.

Glens Falls, N. Y., March 7.—By the capsizing of a flatboat used as a ferry at Spiers Falls today a number of men were drowned. How many lives were lost is not yet definitely known, but it is reported that ten perished. The scene of the accident is remote and but few details have at yet reached this place. According to one report sixty men were on the boat. The current was very swift and a mass of ice and logs struck the craft. In the confusion the boat was tipped over, throwing the occupants into the river. Search is now being made for the missing, many of whom were swept down the swift stream.

There were sixty men in the boat. In the confusion one man jumped out and in jumping seized the tackle rope. This caused the boat to tip, half the men falling into the river and being carried down by the swift current. The latest estimates agree that ten men were drowned.

The bodies of Michael Kennedy and two Italian laborers have been found.

HER 116th ANNIVERSARY.

Monterey, W. Va., March 7.—Mrs. Marsylla Keith, a white woman, today celebrated her 116th birthday anniversary with religious service at her home. Mrs. Keith was born in South Carolina at her home. She has vivid recollections of incidents preceding the war of 1812. She is the mother of thirteen children, but only two are living.

Miss Pauline Schwarze gave a progressive carom party last evening in honor of Miss Bertha Staede, of Mankato, Minn. First prize was won by Miss Clara Schmidt and the consolation was awarded to Miss Connie Wyneken. Miss Staede has been visiting Mrs. Gottlieb Hitzeman for the past eight weeks.

ARRESTS MADE IN LAFOLLETTE CASE

Grand Jury Found Two Indictments Against Charles and John Harrod.

SURRENDER THEMSELVES

Sequel to the Outrages Suffered by Dr. Lafollette at Williamsport.

After the adjournment of the grand jury last week all the city papers save The Sentinel expressed regret that after the examination of about 150 witnesses in the LaFollette cases of Williamsport not sufficient evidence was adduced to warrant an indictment. The Sentinel alone announced that it was satisfied that an indictment had been found and this presumption was verified this morning, when Charles and John Harrod voluntarily surrendered themselves to the sheriff and gave bond for their appearance in the circuit court. There were two indictments against each of the young men, who live near Williamsport, one charging malicious trespass and the other charging them with publishing a libel. Their bond had been fixed at $100 each in the trespass case and $200 each in the libel case, which they furnished, with Dr. Morse Harrod as surety. The young men refused to talk concerning the case and left for home this afternoon. The circuit court calendar for this and the April term is already filled almost to overflowing, so it is not likely that these cases will be heard before the June term of that court.

The details of the numerous outrages and persecutions suffered by Dr. LaFollette and his family at Williamsport are of too recent occurrence to require repeating at this time. His barn was burned by incendiaries, an attempt was made to blow up his home by placing powder in his stovewood, indecent notices regarding him and his family were posted in conspicuous places on the highways, and, in short, he has borne a systematically maintained persecution.

Scores of people from Williamsport and vicinity were examined by the grand jury at the late session and probably no case before that body was given so thorough a probing. The case will attract widespread interest when the trial of the young men now under arrest begins in the court here.

OTHER ARRESTS.

This afternoon several more arrests were made on bench warrants issued for persons against whom indictments had been found by the grand jury. William and Edward McCarty were arrested by Deputy Ryan for participating in the riots on "Hungry hill" and at Smead's feed yard a few weeks ago. Both men are still in custody waiting for a bondsman, whom they expect to secure today. In the case of William the bond is fixed at $200 and in the case of Edward at $100.

Christian Boehm, of Leo, indicted for selling liquor without a license, surrendered himself today and gave bond in the sum of $100, with Ed White as surety.

In the circuit court this afternoon motions to quash the indictments were made in the cases of Henry J. Miller, B. J. Skelton and Emanuel Strass. The motions were purely perfunctory and were not ruled upon by the court.

The two cases of assault and battery against William Ainsworth, preferred by Minnie and Paul Corneille several weeks ago, were set for trial in Tancey's court at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A CHICAGO CORPORATION.

Chicago, March 7.—The announcement was made today that the Chicago Stock Yards and Transit company has secured articles of incorporation, with a capital stock of $200,000. The incorporators are named as Francis D. McPherson, Charles A. Dye and John Chrystal. It is announced that the capital will be increased $2,000,000 in the near future and the company will go into the live stock industry as a competitor of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company. The new corporation is said to be the consummation of a plan outlined by President John W. Springer, of the National Live Stock association, at the convention last year.

A FERRY BOAT SINKS.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 7.—The ferry boat Neptune, plying between Allegheny and the west end, was sunk in the Ohio river near the foot of Chartiers street by the steamer Margaret today. The Neptune is a total loss and the crew and passengers had to swim to the Allegheny side in order to save their lives. The Neptune was crossing the river from the west end and had on board, besides the crew, some eight passengers. The latter were workmen on their way to the mills in lower Allegheny. When the ferry, which was in charge of Engineer John Miller, was nearing the Allegheny shore the steamboat Margaret, with a tow of sand flats, crashed into it. In a moment the front part of the Neptune was splintered and forced under water. The passengers and crew of the ferry were panic-stricken and as the boat began to fill and sink in the water they leaped into the river and struck out for shore.

SECOND WELL DOWN FIVE HUNDRED FEET

Operations in New Haven Oil Field Are Moving Forward Slowly.

Experimental development of the New Haven oil field by the Hope Oil Co. is moving forward slowly, and by this evening it is expected that the drill in the second well will be down to a depth of five hundred feet.

Up to this time the Hope company is the only organization which has attempted to sink a well in the territory, other companies having contented themselves with making leases and then laying quietly back to await developments turned up by the drillers who are pioneering. No. 1 well is being pumped but a short time each day, and oil men say it is good for from twenty to forty barrels. The company is hampered for tank facilities, however, and the five hundred barrels already pumped have completely exhausted the storage facilities.

Agents of the Standard company have declined to lay a pipe line to carry away the product until the field establishes a yield of at least one hundred barrels per day. Both at Baldwin and at Hoagland the new companies are watching the developments at New Haven before hazarding a lot of money in drilling wells.

LIMA POLICE HAVE A FIGHT WITH ROBBERS

Men Suspected of Continental Postoffice Robbery Are Finally Landed.

Toledo, O., March 7.—Three men suspected of robbing the postoffice at Continental, Ohio, were arrested at Lima late yesterday afternoon after a running fight with the police in which citizens assisted the officers. William Morgan, known as "Blinky Morgan the second," was located in a south side saloon and when the officers attempted to arrest him pulled a revolver and fired. He made his escape by a rear door. The police gave chase. Two boys opened fire with shotguns and the third shot brought Morgan down. He was terribly injured and was taken to the police station covered with blood. The safe at the Continental's office was blown, $44 in money and $550 in stamps taken. Morgan's partners, Joe King and James Smith, were caught with Morgan.

STOCK MARKET IS THROWN INTO PANIC

Decrease in New York Bank Reserves Causes a Flurry at Market's Close.

New York, March 7.—The stock market was thrown into confusion today when the bank statement came out showing that surplus reserves of the banks were reduced to below a million dollars. Operators in stocks accepted this as plain intimation that they would be called upon by the banks next week to pay off loans, and they hastened to market their holdings of stocks as best they could. The last half hour of the market was very much excited, and towards the last prices crumbled in such an alarming manner that the fall of the chairman's hammer gave a feeling of relief. Last prices were at about the lowest. Extreme declines showed such figures as St. Paul 3⅜, Union Pacific 3¾, St. Louis & San Francisco 3, Canadian Pacific 3⅛, Manhattan 3½, New York Central 2⅞ and pretty much all of the active list 1 to 3.

MOVE MADE IN THE BURDICK MYSTERY

Young Woman Taken in Custody by Police at Buffalo and Examined.

SHE IS LATER RELEASED

Police Say They Believe They Now Have Mystery of the Murder Solved.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 7.—Superintendent of Police Bull announced at 10 o'clock this morning that a woman had been taken into custody in the Burdick murder mystery. "We strongly suspect this woman," said Superintendent Bull. Her name is Miss Marion Hutchinson, who was employed as an extra clerk in Burdick's office. Her former home was in London, Ontario. She is a woman of refinement and a fine musician. She came to Buffalo last summer with her mother and sister. Her father is dead. She is short and slight and has a light complexion.

Miss Hutchinson was taken to police headquarters by detectives at an early hour today. Much secrecy was maintained by the police.

HANDKERCHIEF PLAYS A PART.

It appears that a handkerchief plays an important part in the identification and that one not belonging to anyone in the Burdick household was found in the den after the tragedy.

As she sat in the office she was approached by Detective Cornish, who asked her for her handkerchief. She gave it up rather reluctantly.

Then Superintendent Bull stepped into the outer office and took from his drawer a handkerchief which had been concealed there. It was taken into the inner office, laid on a table and carefully examined by District Attorney Coatsworth and Superintendent Bull and compared with the other taken from the woman.

The woman was put through a searching cross-examination in the private office of Superintendent Bull.

THINKS MYSTERY SOLVED.

While refusing to divulge any of the case in the hands of the police, Superintendent Bull made the statement that he was confident that the mystery of the Burdick murder had been solved and that complete proof would be forthcoming.

Miss Hutchinson was taken into Superintendent Bull's private office and cross-examination was begun. Besides Miss Hutchinson in the office were Superintendent Bull, Assistant Superintendent Cusack, Detective Cornish and District Attorney Coatsworth.

After her examination at police headquarters Miss Hutchinson was taken to the district attorney's office. Later Attorney Fennelly, the lawyer retained by Mrs. Seth T. Paine, appeared at police headquarters and demanded to see Miss Hutchinson. Superintendent Bull denied that she was there, whereupon Mr. Fennelly repaired to the city hall and obtained from Justice White a writ of habeas corpus ordering that Miss Hutchinson be produced in court on the ground that she was being illegally held for the murder of Edwin L. Burdick.

WOMAN RELEASED.

No defense to the writ was interposed by the police and Miss Hutchinson was thereupon released.

Superintendent Bull issued a statement saying she had at no time been technically under arrest, although she was detained and questioned.

THE FRENCH ARE CORDIAL.

Paris, March 7.—A remarkable demonstration of Franco-American cordiality occurred at the banquet given at 11 o'clock this morning in the hotel Continental to President Francis, of the St. Louis exposition. It was under the presidency of Minister of Commerce Trouillot and was attended by five hundred of the foremost officials, including a personal representative of President Loubet; practically the entire ministry and representatives of the state, senate chamber of deputies, judiciary and the army and navy. Mr. Francis arrived here from Madrid late last night and owing to his intention to leave for Berlin at 1 o'clock the banquet was arranged for an unusually early hour.

The Garnishee Law.

This much talked-of Garnishee Law may (if it becomes a law) do a great deal toward compelling delinquent debtors to pay at least a portion of their earnings on past due accounts. But an easier and by far more profitable method would be to know WHOM YOU MAY CREDIT and WHOM YOU MAY NOT CREDIT. By knowing these two very important things you will be enabled to extend credit to those who are worthy of your confidence, and at the same time to refuse those who by their past have proven themselves unworthy of confidence reposed in them. LEGISLATURE GOING AT A FIERCE GAIT

Bills Being Rushed Through Without Much Regard to What They Contain.

Indianapolis, March 7.—Not in ten years has the general assembly proceeded more recklessly at the end of the session than it is now doing. The members shout "aye" without knowing what a bill contains and apparently without thinking of the effect their votes may have on the welfare of the people.

The presiding officers seem to be affected with the mad spirit of haste, and all goes rushing along with the end in view of getting the bills through both branches in time for the governor.

In the house last night the speaker forced a veterinary bill just from the senate past second reading to engrossment, without allowing anybody to offer an amendment on second reading. There was no printed bill in the house.

REFUSED TO RECOGNIZE HIM.

Representative Bamberger stood and shouted for recognition several seconds. He desired opportunity to offer an amendment, and he protested that no printed bill was on the desk and he could not offer an amendment without it. He begged that the bill be not forced past second reading, for it would take a two-thirds vote to amend on third reading if there were any objections. He appealed from the speaker.

"The chair declines to recognize the appeal," said Speaker Marshall, and away the house went pellmell, passing other bills or advancing them.

GALLOPING WILDLY AHEAD.

This galloping wildly through its business in the fag end of the session is believed to explain why it is that the statutes are so filled with inaccuracies, conflicting sections and sometimes vicious provisions.

In the senate bills are being rushed through with little attention paid to their contents. There are so many bills yet to consider and so many senators are anxious to squeeze in before adjournment, that they do not want to take time in discussing bills in which they are not vitally interested.

Let a senator announce that the bill he calls up is local in character, and it practically amounts to the withdrawal of all objections. The law says a bill should be read through when on third reading, yet this rule is never observed, and only the title of the bill is read.

CAN'T GET A QUORUM.

Along with this haste comes great confusion and Roll Clerk Cutler has to "yell his head off" to make indifferent senators hear and respond. It is hard work to get a quorum—34—much of the time.

A rule was adopted recently that permits bills to be read a second time without being printed and this adds to the general mix-up. By a mistake of the clerks yesterday Representative Adair's bill providing that the printing of the auditors' and treasurers' offices shall be in two papers of opposite political color, went to engrossment the same day that it was received from the house, and this without a suspension of the constitutional rules. The mistake was discovered in time to get the bill back.

ANOTHER MISTAKE.

A message from the house Thursday also said that the house had concurred in the engrossed amendments to senate bill No. 190, whereas these amendments were not concurred in by the house. Representative Stutesman happened to be in the senate chamber at the time and he called the attention of President Gilbert to the error. The matter was finally straightened out.

Nothing but unanimous committee reports have been received for the last few days and they are received in bunches. No formal concurrence in them is had, the senate having voted to concur in all unanimous reports. With no printing required, a bill goes from the committee to second reading at a single step.

TIRED OUT IN THE HOUSE.

The house held until 7 o'clock Thursday night.

"What is this bill?"

"O, it's Mitchell's. It's all right. Vote for it."

After a long and hard day the members of the house were too tired, after 6 o'clock, to attempt even to follow the bills that were being read by title only for the third time. All through the long, tiresome day some of the lawmakers tried to follow each bill till the late afternoon rush. Then no one knew what was in anything.

Hardly a member was in his seat. Members and railroad lawyers alike were among the members working against the senate amendments to the Indianapolis track elevation bill.

LOCKED THE DOORS.

They were not required to be in their seats to vote nor to speak. The speaker and most of the members were smoking. The speaker had had the doors locked to hold the members who would have gone home. On some of the unimportant bills there was trouble at times in getting a quorum to vote, and the friends of the bill being voted on would rush among their fellows, begging them "to vote one way or the other, vote no, or any old thing to get a quorum."

More than once the speaker said that he could see enough members voting to make a quorum, and advised the house employes to make the records show "enough present and not voting" to make a quorum.

BLAMES STRIKE ON THE BRIDGE TRUST

President of Bridge Workers Organization Gives Out a Statement.

Philadelphia, March 7.—President Buchanar., of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, who is in this city, today issued a statement giving the reasons for the general strike against the American Bridge company. The statement in part is as follows:

"The company started the fight in Buffalo by sub-letting the rivetting on a job at the Lackawanna steel plant to be done by non-union men, after the union men had done the difficult part of the work. The company then attempted to put non-union men to work fitting and rivetting on a bridge where our members are working. The representatives of No. 6 at Buffalo requested the company to comply with the agreement by allowing the members of the union to do the work. The request was disregarded by the superintendent of the company and a strike occurred there."

The statement sets forth that in Pittsburg the company put non-union men to work on "false" work, contrary to the established working rules. Other rules are alleged to have been broken in Philadelphia, New York and Albany.

These grievances, he says, were referred to the international president for adjustment, who was unable to secure a conference with the American Bridge company.

In conclusion President Buchanan says:

"After consulting the international executive board, I have issued an order for a general strike."

BIG INVESTMENT IN FARM PROPERTY

Illinois Man Makes $30,000 Purchase of Real Estate in This Vicinity.

At the office of the Citizens' Trust company this morning George Geddes, of Hickman, Ill., completed the purchase of $30,000 worth of farming lands in Allen, Paulding and Adams counties. The deal is one of the largest recently made in this section and was negotiated by the W. E. Doud agency.

The purchase comprises a total of 450 acres and the average price paid was $60 per acre. The farms purchased were 150 acres in Jackson township, Allen county, from O. J. Pond; 150 acres in Paulding county from Joseph Morris, of Lima, Ohio, and 180 acres in Adams county from George Wagner, of Michigan. The tracts are all in contiguous territory and Mr. Geddes stated to The Sentinel today that he had made the purchase simply as an investment, because he believed he had secured a bargain. "In the region where I live," said Mr. Geddes, "land similar to this is worth $125 per acre, and the crops raised here last year were in reality better than those produced by our higher-priced Illinois land."

WILL ASK MORE WAGES.

New Haven, Conn., March 7.—The grievance committees of the conductors and trainmen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad system held an all-night session last night at which Val Fitzpatrick, of Cleveland, Ohio, vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and C. W. Wilkins, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, senior grand conductor of the Railway Conductors' organization, were present. Nothing concerning the conference was given out except that the deliberations had not been concluded, and that another meeting of the committees and national officers would be held today. The demands which the trainmen and conductors wish to present to the company include a wage increase and various changes in the rules governing their work. It is said that the grievance committees represent 50 per cent of the trainmen and conductors of the system.

reading. All were unimportant measures, however. Among the bills passed during the day were the following:

Representative Schreeder's bill authorizing savings banks to make deposits outside the state for the purpose of issuing drafts against such amounts.

Representative Foster's bill appropriating $600 to the estate of the late Gen. R. S. Foster.

Representative Beckman's bill authorizing the payment of school fund mortgage foreclosures in cash.

Representative Bamberger's bill requiring fire escapes on all public buildings of three stories or more.

Representative Branch's bill making it a felony instead of misdemeanor as at present where a tenant sells crops on which the landlord holds a lien.

Representative Somers's bill authorizing the payment of costs of making improvements in front of school property from the school funds.

Representative Smith's bill amending road laws to allow changing of material for the improvement after the report of the reviewers has been made.

Senator Fortune's bill allowing the widows of Spanish war soldiers to be admitted to the state soldiers' home.

Senator Ogborn's bill protecting the buttons of Spanish-American war soldiers' organizations.

Representative Lewis's bill providing for the disposition of the bodies of dead animals.

Representative Mitchell's bill making the county officer the proper official to collect costs of changes of venue cases. The rules were suspended to allow the bill to be read a third time.

THE HOUSE IN REBELLION.

By a wild chorus of "ayes" against one lonely "no," the house refused to concur yesterday afternoon in the senate's amendments to the general appropriations bill. This action was taken at the instance of Mr. Sayre and without preliminary debate. The house will be represented in a conference by Messrs. Sayre and Stansbury, chairman and ranking member of the ways and means committee.

Senator Parks' ditch bill, providing for the cleaning and repair of drains under the direction of the county surveyor, was killed by a vote of 38 to 33, after a speech of fiery denunciation by Mr. Boulden. He said it was a "graft."

The Wood bill, forbidding the sale of liquor within a mile of any soldiers' home or army post, was passed without debate by a vote of 65 to 6.

Senator DeHaven's bill, to place the names of candidates for congress on the state ballot instead of the county ballot, as at present, was defeated in the house by a vote of 62 to 17. No debate preceded the killing of the measure.

Senator Milburn's bill, authorizing the loaning at interest of the Indiana university endowment fund now in the state treasury, was passed by a vote of 62 to 10.

Senator Wood's bill, requiring all foreign corporations to have a public office in this state when doing business here, passed—54 to 12.

Senator Barlow's bill, to exempt from taxation the property of fraternal beneficiary organizations, was defeated by a vote of 72 to 14.

OTHER BILLS THAT PASSED.

Other bills passed during the day were:

Authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of five members to visit the scene of the siege of Vicksburg and ascertain the position of the Indiana troops and appropriating $1,000 expense money.

Taxing the shares of capital stock in any bank or trust company to the corporation and providing that a statement must be filed with the assessor.

Providing for the admission of the Spanish-American and Philippine soldiers to the soldiers' homes.

Forbidding the wearing by non-members of the buttons or insignia of the organizations of Spanish-American war veterans.

PRIMARY ELECTION BILL DIES.

By a vote of 50 to 36 the house yesterday afternoon killed the Thompson primary election bill. A brief but earnest debate preceded the vote, in which one Marion county representative, Mr. Morgan, opposed the bill. Every other member from this county supported the measure. The vote was as follows:

For the bill: Bamberger, Baird, Bearss, Beckman, Bell, Branch, Corn, Decker, Edwards, Fear, Harley, Hastings, Hull, Jackley, Kimball, Kirkman, Lewis of Clay, Luhring, Miller, Minnick, Mitchell, Owen, Parrett, Pepple, Robertson, Rock, Salisbury, Salmond, Sayre, Stansbury, Stechhan, Stultz, Van Fleet, Watson, Wright and Mr. Speaker—36.

Against the bill: Adair, Allen, Bader, Berndt, Boulden, Boyd, Caldwell, Conaway, Cravens, Cully, Curry, Denbo, Dirkson, Farrow, Garman, Green, Haines, Hall, Hamilton, Henrickson, Holman, Hume, Jackaways, Kirkpatrick, Kline, Lemert, Lopp, Matthews, McDowell, Morgan, Morton, Mummert, Nehf, Patton, Poer, Reeve, Schermerhorn, Scifres, Sherman, Slack, Somers, Stookey, Stutesman, Taylor, Trapp, Wellons, Williams, Wilson, Yencer and Zollman—50.

Absent: Cantwell, Carmichael, Harter, Lewis of Fountain, Miner, Muir, Schreeder, Sheridan, Smith, Sparks, Tarkington, Warner and Wells—13.

FLEMING'S BIG PETITION.

Senator Fleming caused some diversion for the senators in presenting to the senate a petition with 77,121 signatures of voters protesting against the blanket remonstrance feature of the Nicholson law. In presenting his petition, which filled two large bound volumes in book form, he declared that they were offered even though the Luhring bill had been killed, to show the legislature that there are two sides to the liquor question, and to serve notice that the matter will be reopened when the next legislature meets. Several of the senators were inclined to make fun of the petition, but Senator Fleming took the matter seriously and declared that the senators would learn that this is a very live question.

WORK OF THE LOBBY.

The senate and house played the most remarkable game of cross-purposes over the Indianapolis track elevation matter ever seen in a state legislature yesterday. In the morning it looked as if the city would secure a law giving it the right to compel the railroads to elevate or depress their tracks; by night the railroad attorneys, past masters in the game, had succeeded in overturning everything that had been done by the senate Thursday afternoon and had secured a complete deadlock. Unless some Alexander appears to cut the Gordian knot, the probabilities are that there will be no track elevation legislation of any character this session of the general assembly.

A NEW CRUISER IS SAFELY LAUNCHED

The Chattanooga Committed to the Water Without Accident.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 7.—The cruiser Chattanooga was launched at 2:30 this afternoon. She slid gracefully into the water, the launching and ceremonies being most successfully carried out.

Great precaution had to be taken in launching the Chattanooga because there was only 500 feet of water in front of the ways and the cruiser is more than 350 feet long. To overcome the danger a system of checking the movement of the vessel was devised. Two great weights were secured well down in the ground on each side of the ways. As the cruiser left the ways and was waterborn a series of heavy ropes were broken, each rope sustaining a strain of twenty tons. In this way the ship gradually was stopped before she reached the opposite shore.

The Chattanooga was christened by Miss Nell Chambliss, daughter of the mayor of Chattanooga. The maids of honor were Miss Frances Bond and Miss Rieta Faxon. The bottle of champagne Miss Chambliss broke on the vessel's prow was gold-meshed and draped with the national colors.

A large number of invited guests of the United States Shipbuilding company, President Lewis Nixon and Mrs. Nixon acting as hosts, attended the launching, going down from New York to the Crescent Shipyards at Elizabeth in a special steamer. The party included Senators Carmack and Bate, Governor James B. Frazer, of Tennessee, and Mayor A. W. Chambliss.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

Frederick G. Thiele, of this city, a clerk, today filed in the United States court a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. The liabilities are $450. with no assets. The liabilities were incurred as surety on notes. Olds & Doughman and W. F. Dinnen are petitioner's attorneys.

Thaddeus M. Baughman, of Kendallville, has also filed a petition. His liabilities are $630 and he has $140 of assets. Field & Bodenhafer are his attorneys.

BEAUTIFUL AMERICAN PARKS.

In the matter of public adornment it has been left to the new world to lead the old, says Country Life in America. Very much of the adornment of the parks of such a city as Paris, for example, is not adornment at all in the broad and noble sense. It is essentially artificial, made to order, laid out to a scale. That which makes so many of our American parks so far superior to so many of the parks of the old world cities is their individuality, their naturalness, their shunning of sham.

Lost

The Use of Arm. Heart Trouble.

Could Not Eat, Sleep or Walk.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

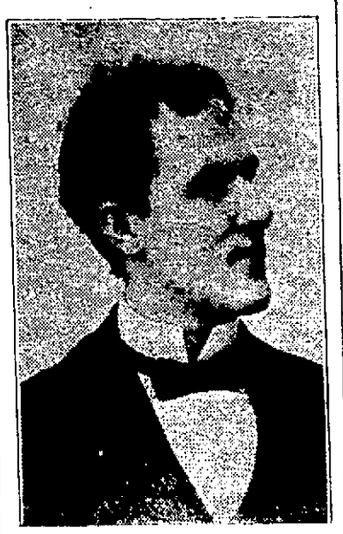
INSTALL NEW PASTOR OF REDEEMER CHURCH

Charge Will be Formally Given Rev. Theodore F. Hahn on Sunday Morning.

Rev. Theodore F. Hahn, who recently accepted a call from Redeemer English Lutheran church, Fulton and Washington streets, to succeed Rev. C. F. W. Meyer, who resigned last fall, will be formally installed as pastor of the church Sunday morning. The service will begin at 10:30 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Paul Stoeppelwerth, pastor of Trinity German Lutheran church, assisted by Prof. Dorn, of Concordia college.

Rev. Hahn came from Arcadia,



REV. THEODORE F. HAHN.

Ind., arriving here last Monday, and he was tendered a reception at the church on Monday evening. He made a very favorable impression on the members of Redeemer church and there is every indication that his pastorate will be markedly successful.

Rev. Hahn was born August 1st, 1870, at Sedalia, Mo., and received his early education in the Lutheran school there, and at Concordia seminary in Milwaukee, where he was a student from 1883 to 1887. He attended Concordia college in this city from 1887 to 1889, and went from here to Concordia seminary at St. Louis, where he was graduated in 1892. He entered the ministery the same year as city missionary at Assiniboia, Canada, and shortly afterward was called to Sturgis, Mich., where he remained seven years. From Sturgis he went to Arcadia, where he was pastor three years. Rev. Hahn is a young man of marked intellectual ability and his future is one of bright promise.

MOTHER KIDNAIS HER CHILD.

(Bluffton News.)

Jessie Fox, divorced wife of Albert Fox, came here from Fort Wayne at noon and, heavily veiled, went to the home of Mrs. Lydia Fox, on West Market street, where she kidnaped her three-year-old daughter, Garnet, and then hurriedly left.

Albert Fox secured a divorce at Marion nine months ago and the child, a pretty little tot of three, was left in the mother's care. Several weeks ago Al learned that the mother had deserted the child, having called at the home of a friend to visit and left through the back door forgetting to take the child with her. Fox got the baby and brought it here where it was placed in the care of his mother. When she appeared at the Fox home today she asked for the baby and Mrs. Fox threw open the door. The woman grabbed the child, jumped into the cab and drove away. She was asked to stop and get the child's cloak and hood, but this she refused to do but came up to the People's store where she purchased wearing apparel for the little one. Mrs. Fox made no serious objection to the child's being taken by its mother, but wanted it to go away properly attired. Where the mother went with the child is not known, but she stated she intended taking it back to Marion and would drive out of town if pursued, but no one pursued her.

A CHAMPIONSHIP SHOOT.

Max Witzigreuter, of the Corner Rod and Gun club, of this city, and J. L. Head, of Peru, who holds the state championship as a wing shot, will participate in a match for the state honors at Peru on March 17. The men will shoot at 100 live birds and there will be a number of minor events in addition. Head has a national reputation as a wing shot, and participated in the matches given here last year. Wizigreuter holds the city championship and his many friends are confident that he will win the state championship on St. Patrick's day.

Moses Siemon, of 114 Superior street, was taken to St. Joseph hospital in the patrol wagon at 3 o'clock yesterday and a half hour later the wagon was called to remove Mrs. William Lawler from her home at 16 Maiden lane to Hope hospital.

STILL ANOTHER LINE IS PLANNED

Ohio Parties After Right-of-Way from Springfield to Fort Wayne.

Representatives of a new electric railroad project which contemplates the construction of an interurban railroad from Springfield, Ohio, to Fort Wayne, are in the city making an investigation of the outlook. The new company is styled the Springfield-Fort Wayne Traction company, and it is backed by Messrs. B. A. Fledderjohann, of New Knoxville, a member of the Ohio legislature; Attorney John H. Koenig, of St. Mary's; Willis Armstrong, of St. Mary's, and W. H. Fledderjohann, of New Knoxville.

It is said that work upon the line between Springfield and St. Mary's has actually been commenced, and the projectors are now engaged in taking right-of-way options along the western end of the route. It is designed that the road shall extend from Springfield to Rockford, thence to Chattanooga, thence to Salem and from that point run along the pike road to Decatur. North of Decatur the line is to follow the old Piqua road through Monmouth and into Fort Wayne.

After a conference at Decatur, Messrs. B. A. Fledderjohann and Koenig came to Fort Wayne yesterday, while their associates engaged the services of H. H. Harruff, of Decatur, and began the work of securing the right-of-way along the Piqua road out of Decatur toward Fort Wayne. The promoters say they are in earnest, and have promised Decatur people that the line will be the first interurban built in Adams county.

WILL SELL LINCOLN FARM.

Hodgenville, Ky., March 7.—The old Lincoln homestead near here, the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, will probably be sold under the hammer within a few weeks. A petition has been filed in the LaRue circuit court by A. W. Linforth as trustee in bankruptcy of Alfred W. Dennette, plaintiff, against David Crear and Alfred W. Dennette, defendants. The suit is for the purpose of setting aside a former sale of the farm to David Crear by Alfred W. Dennette.

Several years ago the old log cabin which stood on the place, and the one in which Lincoln was born, was torn down and taken to the Buffalo exposition, and was later removed to New York city. The only thing that marks the spot where Lincoln was born is a large flagpole that was erected there shortly after the removal of the cabin.

TALKED TO CLUB WOMEN.

Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones addressed the members of the Women's Club League this afternoon in Flick's hall on the subject of "Economics." The ladies of the different women's clubs of Huntington had been invited to be present, and quite a number responded to the invitation. Following the lecture there was a social hour.

MACHINERY IS ORDERED.

The stockholders of the Fort Wayne Brick and Tile company met last evening and awarded the contract for the boilers and engine to the Fort Wayne Foundry and Machine works, and decided to purchase a dryer from a Philadelphia firm. Work on the new factory will begin in a few weeks.

A telegram has been sent to Washington for an order to end the controversy. Both men are republicans.

There were two weddings at Rochester Wednesday evening, when but one, that of Miss Maude Izzard and Lee Cole, was expected to occur. Fifty friends were present and a sister of the bride and a brother of the bridegroom were to be attendants. The attendants, Miss Jennie Izzard and Frank Cole, decided that they would get married, and stole away from the house to the home of a neighbor, where the ceremony was performed, and then the couple hurried back to assist at the other wedding.

For several years Bluffton grocers have had an agreement as to the retail prices of butter, eggs and canned goods, and the agreement was commonly referred to as "the grocers' trust." Several days ago one of the members of the combination began cutting prices on flour, canned goods and other articles, and others followed. A price war that threatens to be disastrous to small dealers is predicted.

THE GABRILOWITCH RECITAL

The main auditorium of the Anthony Wayne club was completely filled with an extremely highly dressed and fashionable audience last night to enjoy the piano recital given by Ossip Gabrilowitch, the young Russian piano virtuoso who it is conceded by the best musical critics of the metropolitan cities is destined in a few years to be reckoned among the greater pianists of the day. His audience last night was not only magnificently attired, but was filled with well-bred enthusiasm and keen musical appreciation that manifested themselves at the conclusion of each number. Gabrilowitch is but twenty-four years of age, but has been a student of music since early youth and has appeared before many select audiences in this country. He first came into prominence in the west by his connection as soloist with the Chicago orchestra and his admirers then said that he would develop into a star of the first magnitude and the prediction bids fair promeise to be fulfilled earlier than was anticipated. Without going into details of the concert last night, which is unnecessary, it will suffice to say that the brilliant young man thoroughly captivated his audience at his first appearance and admiration of him increased with each number of the classical program. He is thoroughly self-possessed without a suspicion of affectation, is in thorough sympathy with the composition and its author, although possessing a marked individuality of his own, his touch is as delicate as a zephyr and his technique is near perfection. Withal he is gracious and responded without any show of annoyance to encores after the most difficult renditions and even then his auditors were loth to allow him to rest. His program last night consisted of a group from Schubert, another from Chopin and single numbers from Mendelssohn, Tschaokowsky, Bach, Saint-Saens, Rubinstein, Henselt and Schubert's "March Militaire," which was substituted for Lizst's polonaise in E major. The eminent virtuoso was brought here under the auspices of the Morning Musical club and it was freely asserted last evening that the recital was in every way the most artistic and most thoroughly enjoyable ever given under the auspices of the club in its long history.

My experience in a general and hospital practice dates from 1872, and I am positive that of all the digestants prescribed in those thirty years, none in my hands has proven so thoroughly effective. The now expiring Indiana legislature will go down in history as one of which the less said the better.

Addicks considers the turn of affairs in Delaware as a great victory for himself. So it doubtless is, but a victory whereof the fruits will probably be pulled down by Addicks two years hence..

In Senator Gorman the democrats of the senate have a leader who will lead. The Marylander is neither loud-talking and boastful nor quietly content to be a figurehead. He fills a "long-felt want" in the senate minority.

A magnetic healer wants to capture the million John D. Rockefeller offers to the man who will repair his digestive machinery. The healer will probably attempt to lay his hand with stout clutch on the oil magnate's leg instead of on his stomach.

Tom Taggart's announcement that at least a part of the Indiana delegation in the next national convention will support the presidential candidacy of D. B. Hill has drawn out such an expression of democratic opinion from over the state as will lead the suave Thomas to believe another guess is coming to him.

John M. Harlan, the republican reformer in Chicago, has just ended another struggle with the Lorimer machine, and the score is as of yore, only more so. The battle against the machine presented added difficulties because the machine, taking counsel of the situation, had put forward a good man in the person of Graeme Stewart, who personally is an embodiment of a great deal more that is desirable in a mayor than the average as it runs in Chicago.

President Roosevelt, it is said, is now looking Hoosierwards for a running mate next year. That means either Fairbanks or Beveridge, with Fairbanks the favorite, if figured from the political standpoint. There has been some "mention" of Senator Mark Hanna for second place, but it is easier to look upon the Ohio man as quietly nursing hopes of larger dimensions. Politicians believe that Hanna or some other republican like Fairbanks would be able to take southern delegates away from Roosevelt in bunches. That, however, is mere guesswork, and time will probably show long before the next convention meets that the tail of the republican ticket is the only part of it that shows any pretext for speculation.

According to all accounts the legislature is signalizing its close by methods of procedure little less than disgraceful. Time frittered away must be made up in the closing hours by haste and slipshod, dangerous methods in order to get bills through. Bills are passed without reading, amendments adopted that the members know nothing about and take no pains to understand and roll calls proceed amid confusion that leaves result in doubt, members paying small attention to the progress of the voting. Lobbyists invade the floor and direct their battles openly, brazenly and without rebuke. The result of it all must be that much of the legislation enacted is full of technical flaws that will invalidate it when put to the test in the courts and much more of it is of character doubtful in wisdom and often distinctly vicious. After the legislature, of course, is the governor with his veto. It is fortunate for the state that Governor Durbin seems to be unusually painstaking in his scrutiny of bills sent to him for signature and does not hesitate to disapprove when he thinks it his duty to do so. It is a bad state of affairs for which, unfortunately, there seems to be no remedy, unless legislators can be brought to a higher sense of duty and place the state's interest above party advantage and personal consideration.

CITY BREVITIES.

E. J. Fisher is spending a few days visiting friends in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Laura Thiebolt, of 1828 South Hanna street, has been quite ill from pleurisy.

Miss Mayme McCann left today for Muskegon, Mich., to visit her sister, Mrs. F. E. Huddleston.

The teachers of Wayne township are holding an institute in the International Business College today.

The Nos Temps club will meet with Mrs. John McKean on Monday afternoon. It will be guest day and each member will be entitled to bring a friend.

Mrs. Christian Martz will lead the meeting of the Young Women's Christian association Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and her subject will be "Our Influence."

Miss Jessie Misner, of East Williams street, delightfully entertained the Chez Nous club last evening. Games and music were the features of the evening and a dainty luncheon was served.

The Ministerial association will meet Monday morning in the Berry Street M. E. church and the paper will be read by Rev. Edgar William Allen, of the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ on "Is the Organic Union of All Christian Churches Desirable?"

On Monday evening, March 16, colored views of the world-famed passion play at Oberammergau will be shown at the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ. The exhibition is given under the auspices of the congregation of Christ's Lutheran church, but is held at the Christian church because of the larger seating capacity of the latter. The views are the property of G. G. Burnett and are said to be the finest of the kind in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lanternier, of 154 Walton avenue, royally entertained the Queen Ann Pedro club last evening. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms and carnations. First prizes were won by Mrs. G. E. Campbell and Mrs. Gust Rogge and the consolations were awarded to Mrs. C. O. Lepper and Mrs. G. E. Campbell. Luncheon was served at midnight. As the guests were about to leave Mr. and Mrs. Lanternier presented each of the ladies with some of the famous carnations which they grew in their greenhouse.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BREAD.

From London "Chic."

In a recent issue of Chic, one of the big illustrated weeklies for which London is famous, a writer on scientific foods says: "There was never coined a more delusive phrase than 'Bread is the staff of life,' because bread is almost the worst of all foods unless the eater knows all about its properties. It is poison to the man in a hurry.

Here follows a long argument.

"'Why not,' asked the dietic experts, 'do for the bread and other cereal foods what the mastication does so that those whose digestions are enfeebled may be fully nourished, that is, derive every grain of nutriment possible from the food and avoid the discomforts of indigestion, the pains after eating, flatulence, acidity, heartburn and the hosts of evils indicating faulty digestion? Why not prepare a food so perfectly that if it be eaten in a hurry, or bolted, it will be as readily digested as if chewed five minutes?"

"To convert the starch in cereals into the form of Grape Sugar which is most agreeable to the stomach and which can be immediately taken up by the system as nourishment is what has been done in Grape-Nuts which, for the reasons I have given, is a far more healthful and nourishing food than the best porridge or bread and can be eaten with advantage by persons with the most delicate stomachs.

"This food discovery comes from America, but widespread recognition of its valuable properties is, to my thinking, much hampered by a name which is meaningless, even to the chemist or dietist. I must confess to not understanding the meaning of 'Grape-Nuts' when I first saw it, but an examination of this food discovery reveals it as one of the most important dietetic advances ever made."

Note.—The name is partly derived from Grape Sugar and the term "Nuts" is suggested by the nutty flavor. The entire word is the registered trade mark.

WAYWARD GIRL WAS FOUND IN ANDERSON

Maggie Kress, of Defiance is Taken to Her Home--The Police News.

Maggie Kress, the wayward daughter of Rev. Kress, a Lutheran minister of Defiance, Ohio, was found at Anderson, Ind., where she was serving as waitress in a restaurant. Officer Williamson, of Anderson, who discovered her whereabouts, was in the city last evening with the girl and turned her over to ex-Sheriff Eiser, of Defiance, and an older sister, who had been notified of their coming and who came to this city to meet the erring maiden. When first apprehended Miss Kress refused to go home, saying she had been mistreated, but upon being reassured, accompanied the officer without resistance. The Kress girl is but fifteen years of age, but is well developed for her age and has rather attractive features. On February 7 she ran away from Defiance with L. E. Ellsworth, a married man of Defiance, who is a traveling man, and since then the police of many cities have been looking for the girl, Ellsworth having been apprehended at Indianapolis February 26th by ex-Sheriff Eiser and taken back to Defiance, where he is held to answer to the charge of abduction. The girl and Ellsworth were traced to this city and then to Indianapolis, where they boarded as man and wife for six days, when the hunt became too warm for Ellsworth, who shipped the girl to Anderson. Ellsworth denied that he had taken the girl away or that he saw her after he left Fort Wayne, but the girl's statement will probably convict him. The girl denies that she had been in any house of prostitution and her story is believed to be true.

POLICE NOTES.

There was no police court this morning.

A machinist's working card and pass-book bearing the name of Ed Davey, of Hamilton, Ohio, was found and can be had by the owner at police headquarters.

The patrol wagon did duty as an ambulance in three cases yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Eddington, of Wells street, fainted in front of the Wayne hotel yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was taken to her home; at 2:45 p. m. Moses Siemon was taken from 114 West Superior street to St. Joseph hospital, and at 3 o'clock Mrs. William Lawless, a colored lady, was taken from Maiden lane to Hope hospital.

Although many months have elapsed since the new system of numbering went into effect and officers have a number of times been given positive instructions to file affidavits against persons refusing to place the proper numbers on their houses according to the ordinance, yet the order is not obeyed. Scarcely a day passes but that some officer reports something as occurring at some impossible number. Yesterday an officer reported an occurrence at No. 16 Maiden lane, when any school boy knows that 601 is the lowest number that can possibly occur on Maiden lane. A little night schooling on street numbers would not do the department a particle of harm.

Lieutenant Lapp is the proud possessor of a new pipe of colossal proportions, which he nurses as tenderly as a baby. It is of the genus known as cob and gives out an odor like a brass foundry, and is regarded as the swellest thing that ever broke into the police station.

An electric light inspector last evening reported that two drunken farmers had a break-down on North Cass street and were too full to go any further. Officer Richardson investigated, but found one of the men entirely sober, although the other was quite boozy. The men had arranged to get another wagon to go home in and were not molested.

Mayor Berghoff has notified the members of the police force that applications for the position of police sergeant must be made in writing and that all applications will be considered and the appointment will be made on merit alone and that years of service or political pull will cut no ice in the selection of a successor to Sergeant Phipps, resigned.

YOUNG ATHLETES TO MEET.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 7.—Crack athletes from throughout the territory comprising the Central Association Amateur Athletic union will meet tonight at the Exposition building in the various events of the annual indoor championships meet. The new track is said to be the fastest ever built for racing and several records are expected to be smashed. There promises to be great rivalry for supremacy between the Milwaukee Athletic club, Chicago university, the University of Wisconsin and First Regimen Athletic association of Chicago.

The ladies' society of the Baptist church will have a social Thursday afternoon and evening March 19th, at the residence of Mrs. S. W. Harmon, on Douglas avenue.

STRANGLER KNAPP WANTS NEWS OF GIRL

Asks Superintendent Gorsline for Word as to Daughter at State School.

Superintendent Gorsline this morning received an autograph letter from Alfred A. Knapp, the murderer of four or five of his wives and divers other persons, who was arrested at Hamilton, Ohio, last week. The letter was written with an indelible pencil in a scrawling, though very legible hand, and was dated at the Hamilton jail. It reads as follows:

"Hamilton, Ohio, March 5, 1903. —To the Chief of Police, Fort Wayne, Ind.: Dear Sir:—I am notified that I have a daughter in your city in an institution for the blind, and as I did not know there was one out there, I thought I would write and ask you to see if you can find her for me. I think she is in the feeble minded institute. So please find out at once, as I am very anxious to find out at once. She is under the name of Maud Jones. So, please find out for me just as soon as you can, and oblige Yours respt,

"Alfred A. Knapp.

"Butler Co. Jail, Hamilton, Ohio.

"The name is Maud Jones."

The fact that a supposed daughter of Knapp is an inmate of the feeble minded institute was published in these columns several days ago and a Terre Haute telegram yesterday confirmed the original story. The girl was first placed in the institution for the blind at Indianapolis, but her mental condition was such that she made no progress herself and only retarded other pupils. She was then sent to the home of relatives in Clay county and afterwards to an orphans' home at Knightsville, Clay county. Last summer she was admitted to the Fort Wayne institution, where she has remained ever since. Superintendent Gorsline conveyed the information to Knapp by letter today and it is supposed that the information is to be used in Knapp's defense to show that mental derangement is hereditary in the family. It is established that insanity and mental irresponsibility will be the basis of Knapp's defense.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP. RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

Congressman Geo. H. White's Case. A Noted Sculptress Cured.

The world of medicine recognizes Grip as epidemic catarrh.--Medical Talk.

LA GRIPPE is epidemic catarrh. It spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper, the masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful GRIP had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

Pe-ru-na for Grip.

Mrs. Theophile Schmitt, wife of the Ex-Secretary of the German Consulate, writes the following letter from 3417 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill.:

"I suffered this winter with a severe attack of la grippe. After using three bottles of Peruna I found the grip had disappeared."—Mrs. T. Schmitt.

Mrs. Celeste Covell writes from 219 N. avenue, Aurora, Ill.:

"Only those who have suffered with la grippe and been cured can appreciate how grateful I feel that such a splendid medicine as Peruna has been placed at the door of every suffering person."—Mrs. C. Covell.

Noted Sculptress Cured of Grip.

Mrs. M. C. Cooper, of the Royal Academy of Arts, of London, England, now residing in Washington, D. C., is one of the greatest living sculptors and painters of the world. She says:

"I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh and la grippe. I have suffered for months, and after the use of one bottle of Peruna I am entirely well."—Mrs. M. C. Cooper.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barber's Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. Now my head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy food and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Lieutenant Clarice Hunt, of the Salt Lake City Barracks of the Salvation Army, writes from Ogden, Utah:

"Two months ago I was suffering with so severe a cold that I could hardly speak.

"Our captain advised me to try Peruna and procured a bottle for me, and truly it worked wonders. Within two weeks I was entirely well."—Clarice Hunt.

Congressman White's Letter.

Tarboro, N. C.

Gentlemen:—I am more than satisfied with Peruna and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."—George H. White, Member of Congress.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Treasurer Independent Order of Good Templars, of Everett, Wash., writes:

"After having a severe attack of la grippe I continued in a feeble condition even after the doctors called me cured. My blood seemed poisoned. Peruna cured me."—Mrs. T. W. Collins.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

M. L. Helpman, of Bourbon, is in the city.

RHEUMATISM

Cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm After the Best Doctor in the Town Had Failed to Give Relief.

Many people think that because their family doctor cannot cure them of rheumatism their cases are incurable. It has not occurred to them that there are remedies prepared especially for that complaint and one that has become famous for its cures. It is a liniment and is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application relieves the pain. Mr. John Blount, of Monon, Ind., writes: "I can truly say that Chamberlain's Pain Balm will cure rheumatism, for I was cured by its use after the best doctor in Monon had failed to give me relief."

Mr. Jos. W. Currens, the postmaster at Monon, attests to the truth of this statement.

Hon. T. E. Ellison is expected home today from a western trip.

Irregularities

CHICAGO, ILL., 5802 Indiana Avenue, Sept. 25, 1902.

Wine of Cardui is superior to anything I have ever tried for irregularities. Three years ago I noticed that I became irregular but I paid little attention to it. Gradually the trouble became serious and affected my general health. The flow became scanty and very painful and I sought the doctor's aid. I soon found, however, that his prescriptions did not have the desired effect and when a friend recommended Wine of Cardui I decided to try it and procured a bottle. It helped me at once and I felt greatly encouraged when I noticed the change for the better. At my next menstrual period the pain was less and the flow better and within four months I was perfectly well, regular and without pain.

This is over a year ago and I have not suffered any pains or trouble since. Accept my sincere thanks for your efficient remedy.

Miss Adelaide Adams

Because Wine of Cardui cures women so simply, so quickly and so effectively it is the favorite medicine of women today. This medicine brings women health and freedom from sickness by the most simple process—Nature's own way.

While physicians examine and operate, Wine of Cardui works a cure without the humiliating publicity of an operation or the danger of the use of a knife.

Wine of Cardui strikes at the root of female trouble. It regulates the menstrual flow, making the function regular and healthy, an aid to health instead of a menace. A profuse flow weakens the blood and suppression poisons it. Wine of Cardui, by regulating the flow, gives life and strength to all the generative organs. Bearing down pains disappear and ovarian pains and weakness give way to health.

If you are suffering female weakness you should look after your case at once. All the organs are in sympathy and you cannot tell what a simple case of irregularity will run into if you let it alone.

Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui. Take it in your home, in private, and you will thank Miss Adams for her advice.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Chattanooga, Tennessee.

HEEATING FRANCHISE AGAIN CONSIDERED

Little Headway is Gained by Council Committee—The City Hall News.

The committee on contracts and franchises met last evening with the gentlemen interested in securing a hot water heating franchise in the city and although it was near midnight when an adjournment was reached it can not be said that anything was accomplished at the conference. No one has yet intelligently explained what is meant by a "foot of radiation," but the promoters insisted that 25 cents per foot is not an excessive price and they were seconded by Councilman Gerding, who said that the price was not exorbitant if the plant was to be used exclusively for heating. Nevertheless the question of price was the rock upon which the committee and the promoters split and at adjournment they were no nearer to an agreement than when they commenced. The discussion of a minimum degree of heat to be furnished and the question of rebates also consumed a great deal of time. The matter was left unsettled, although the representatives of the company said that since they intend putting in a first-class plant they did not care much what stipulations were inserted in matters of degrees of heat and rebates for unsatisfactory service so long as the stipulations were reasonable. It was agreed that some expert testimony should be elicited on some of the salient points of the system and that the evidence should come from disinterested persons in localities where the system is already in use. Another meeting between the same parties will be held on Monday night and it is hoped that enough light can then be shed on the disputed points to enable the committee to make an intelligent report to the council on the following evening.

WILL MAKE A REPORT.

The special gas committee held another meeting last night for the purpose of drafting a report to be presented to the council on next Tuesday night. The committee agreed that it was useless to attempt to derive any more information on the subject and spent most of the time in trying to discover what they had found out up to date. It was finally decided that City Attorney Shambaugh should summarize the information gleaned at the several meetings of the committee and their visits to the gas fields and submit it to another meeting of the same committee to be held next Monday night. At that meeting an official report will be submitted to the council, which will be referred to the committee of the whole for review. This committee of the whole will meet on Tuesday evening and is expected to report back to the council the same evening.

(Kokomo Tribune.)

Rev. W. D. Parr, of Kokomo, assistant general secretary of the Methodist church extension society, and a former presiding elder of Kokomo district, of which Logansport is a part, probably holds the world's record as a church builder. Sunday he dedicated his one hundred and sixth church, the last one being at Hopewell, where he also raised a $3,100 debt. He has raised church debts aggregating $1,000,000. His services are in great demand as a church builder and debt lifter. Church edifices valued at $5,000,000 stand as monuments to the energy of Rev. Parr, who is still a comparatively young man.

DR. HILLIS DEPLORES WORSHIP OF DOLLAR

Age of Revision, Even for the Ten Commandments—Severe on the Newly Rich.

New York, March 7.—Touching by inference upon the strides being made by the trusts, Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, speaking at the installation services for Rev. Dr. Nancy McGhee Waters, successor to Rev. Dr. M. Tompkins, at the Congregational church, Brooklyn, arraigned the worship of wealth, which he said seemed to be supplanting in a measure the worship of God, and predicted that within twenty years the fight between materialism and Christianity would become an acute struggle.

"In these days," said Dr. Hillis, "we see young men going to college to fit themselves for business and professions. The class of young men who years ago went to enter theological seminaries now tell you they intend to become lawyers because of the greater emoluments to be gained.

SPIRIT OF REVISION.

"Now and then we hear of a man stealing a railroad and the public applauds him for his cleverness. There seems to be a spirit of revision in this age. There is even a new version of the ten commandments, of which the chief seems to be 'honor the almighty dollar that you may have yachts and lands and a life of ease and steal everything in sight.'"

Referring with biting sarcasm to the bent of the newly rich to pose as art connoisseurs, Dr. Hillis said: "We see them buying paintings and musty old manuscripts without being able to tell for the life of them whether one is the work of an old master or the other the genuine production of an old classical litterateur."

Dr. Hillis' remarks caused a decided sensation, and the congregation broke forth in applause. Dr. Hillis' words were all the more unexpected because of his stand on the question of labor unions, which in a recent sermon he held to be forms of tyranny and a dead weight about the neck of industrial progress.

SUSPECTS IN COURT ROOM.

Laporte, Ind., March 7.—The three suspects in the Reynolds murder case were taken into Judge Richter's court yesterday morning. Edward Glancy entered a plea of not guilty. The attorney for Edward Dunham made a motion to quash the affidavit and information and his arraignment will not take place until Monday at which time the third suspect, Elias Wagner, will plead to the charge. There is an unconfirmed rumor afloat that Wagner has made a confession, but an official verification of the report cannot be obtained. Five hundred people crowded into the court room to witness the proceedings.

GETS DIVORCE AND $15,000.

Kokomo, Ind., March 7.—Mrs. Simpson obtained a divorce from Lawrence Simpson here yesterday and $15,000 alimony. They were married twenty-six years ago. The defendant is a wealthy capitalist with business interests in Kokomo, Greentown and Peru.

A NOTABLE ARRAY OF LECTURERS COMING

Prof. Howeth's Engagements to Be Filled by Well-Known Social Students.

The state of his health has obliged Prof. Ira W. Howeth, of the University of Chicago, to cancel his engagements to lecture here under the auspices of the Woman's Club league. Prof. Howeth was under engagement to deliver six lectures here on sociological topics, one of which he has delivered. Arrangement has been made, however, to have the engagements filled by others and this will bring to Fort Wayne during the next month an array of social students whose names are known over the whole country. The lectures will be held in the assembly room of the court house and will be altogether free.

Next Tuesday night Jane Addams, of Hull house, Chicago, will lecture on "The Problem of Poverty." Miss Addams is one of the best known sociological lecturers and workers in the country.

Tuesday night, March 17, Prof. Albion W. Small, of the University of Chicago, will lecture on "Democracy as the Architect of Society." On March 24 Prof. Small will lecture on the "Use and Abuse of Government."

March 31 Prof. Graham Taylor will lecture on the "Ethics of the Labor Movement." Prof. Taylor is well known in Fort Wayne, where he has lectured several times.

April 14 Prof. George E. Vincent will lecture on "The New Social Philosophy."

FUNSTON CALLED EAST.

Denver, Colo., March 7.—Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, commanding the department of the Colorado, U. S. A., has received unexpected orders calling him to Washington for a conference with the assistant secretary of war, Sanger. No reason was given for the summons. The general will leave today for Washington, accompanied by his personal aide, Lieut. Mitchell.

The order caused a revolution in General Funston's arrangements. He was instructed to assume command of the department of Columbia, embracing Washington, Oregon, Idaho and the whole of Alaska, succeeding General Randall, who sails for the Philippines on April 1. His orders were to reach Vancouver barracks, Washington, the department headquarters, not later than March 10, and he had arranged to leave Denver for the Pacific coast today.

General Funston declined to discuss the new order, or to make any comment on the change in arrangements. It is believed, however, that the war department has in view extensive plans for the handling of troops in Alaska, in connection with the impending difficulties over the Alaskan boundary question.

RESENTED THEIR JEERS.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 7.—Because they jeered at him, Walter Green, colored, aged 15 years, fired into a crowd of white boys at South St. Joseph with a shotgun, wounding four of them, John Good, Clyde Christopher, Arthur Smith and Phillip McGee. The gun was loaded with buckshot and the boys were struck in different parts of the body and head. None of them, it is believed, is dangerously wounded. The white boys, who are about Green's age, are members of prominent families. Green has been arrested.

OPEN NEW ALLEYS TONIGHT.

The new bowling alleys in the Anthony Wayne club will be formally opened this evening and it is expected that there will be a large outpouring of new members to witness the event. The first game was played today by Messrs. Frank Taft and Eugene Olds, and Mr. Taft has the distinction of being the first man to win a game on the new alleys. The alleys were installed by the Brunswick, Balke, Callender firm, of Chicago. There are two, and they are located on the east side of the building, extending almost the entire length of the basement. It is expected that the game will do much to popularize the club.

BIG FIRE AT HOUGHTON.

Houghton, Mich., March 7.—Another disastrous fire, the second within two weeks, visited this place early today, causing a loss amounting to $250,000. The fire originated in the big stone building occupied by Meedham Bros.' steam laundry, E. T. Hooper's pop factory and Michael's saloon. The laundry equipment was totally destroyed. The Hancock and Hurontown departments were called upon for assistance.

Miss Sue Cahill left last evening for Saginaw Mich., after a visit of several days with her sister, Mrs. D. L. Byers.

Confide in a Woman

Women may write about their ills to Mrs. Pinkham, and avoid the questioning of a male physician. They can tell their story without reservation to her; she never breaks a confidence, and her advice is the best in the world.

The questions asked of a woman by a male physician are embarrassing, and often revolting to a sensitive nature. In consequence the whole truth is not told; this makes it difficult for female troubles to be successfully treated even by the best physicians, and is the reason so many women grow worse rather than better. A woman understands a woman better than a man,—there are symptoms which sick women have that a man cannot understand, simply because he is a man, but the whole truth may be told to Mrs. Pinkham, and her vast experience enables her to give advice which leads to a cure.

All women who suffer should secure Mrs. Pinkham's advice; it costs nothing but a letter addressed to her at Lynn, Mass. Female troubles are real troubles, and must be treated understandingly. For a quarter of a century Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have been helping women to get strong and well, and her great file of letters prove that more than a million women have been restored to health and strength by her advice and her medicine when all other means have failed.

When you go to a druggist for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, do not let him persuade you to try something which he says is just as good; there is nothing just as good, because Mrs. Pinkham's medicine holds the record for the largest number of cures of any female medicine in the world.

TENDENCY OF THE TIMES.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended, until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures.

Mrs. M. S. Willson and her son, Fred Willson, will leave next Monday for Grand Forks, N. D., where Mrs. Willson will spend several weeks with her sons.

Henry Beadell, of the People's store, has returned from a business trip to New York.

A SEVERE COLD FOR THREE MONTHS.

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. Sold by Dreier & Bro.

Conductor O. F. Saylor, of the Southwestern, is taking a vacation and is visiting friends at St. Joe.

GAINED FORTY POUNDS IN THIRTY DAYS.

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in flesh. He is now fully recovered. We have a good trade on the tablets. Holley Bros., Merchants, Long Branch, Mo.

Postoffice Inspector A. R. Burr returned last evening from a ten-day trip through Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Burr's household effects arrived in the city yesterday from Minneapolis and they will now take up their residence on East Wayne street.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, March 7.—Wheat opened firm on better cables and unfavorable weather and May was unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 76c to 76⅛c. There was a good demand for July, but the offerings were liberal at the slight advance, which later resulted in a little easier tone, May selling off to 75⅝c. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 282 cars, which, with local receipts of 41 cars—one of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 413 cars, against 314 last week and 345 a year ago.

The spring-like weather throughout the country had a decidedly depressing influence and with no support the market slumped badly, May selling off to 74⅝c, and the close was 1⅜c to 1¼c lower, at 74¾@74⅞c.

There was a continuation of the bullish sentiment in corn at the start, due to lower cables and unfavorable weather, and May opened ¼c to ½c higher, at 47⅝c to 47⅞c, but heavy liquidation resulted from the better prices and the market weakened, May declining to 47½. Local receipts were 278 cars, with two of contract grade.

The weakness in wheat affected prices in corn to some extent and the close was easier, with May off ¼c, at 45¼c.

Trading in oats was light and the market lacked any features. Opening prices were firm in sympathy with the strength in corn and May was a shade to ⅛c higher, at 35c to 35@35⅛c, but later declined with corn to 34⅝c. Local receipts were 237 cars.

Provision opened strong, influenced by the smaller run of hogs and an advance of from 5c to 10c at the yards. May pork was up 5c to 12½c, at $18.42½ to $18.50; May lard was from 5c to 7½c better, at $10.12½ to $10.15, and ribs were 2½c higher, at $9.97½. There was a good demand for May pork and lard and for July and September ribs, and the market held fairly well.

The Close.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—May, 74¾@74⅞c; Sept., 69¼c.

Corn—March, 45c; May, 47⅛c; July, 44⅝c; Sept., 43¾c.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, March 7.—Opening prices were generally a fraction lower than last night. Depression in London had a sympathetic effect here. Canadian Pacific was down 1⅛ and the trans-continental stocks and Baltimore and Ohio were notably affected. Small fractional gains were made by People's Gas, Brooklyn Transit and Tennessee Coal.

The insignificant character of the demand after yesterday's late substantial rally chilled bull operators and prices fluctuated narrowly and irregularly. Missouri Pacific was bid up to 110, but did not hold, and there was some liquidation in the Pacifics southerns and soft coal stocks. Amalgamated ran off a point below the opening and Kansas and Texas preferred, Baltimore and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Southern Railway preferred, St. Louis and San Francisco and Leather preferred sold a point or more below last night. General Electric fell 2½. There were fractional recoveries before the hour expired.

The market sagged slowly until the publication of the bank statement. The disclosure of a reduction in the surplus reserves on deposits, excluding U. S. deposits, to less than $1,000,000, brought out free offerings all through the list. Net declines for all the principal stocks ran from 1 to 2 points and over in St. Paul, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island and St. Louis and San Francisco. Some effort at support was evident, but the selling broke through and the closing was very active and weak.

MORGAN SEEKS HOTEL SYSTEM.

New York, March 7.—Various reports concerning the Flagler hotel system in Florida were circulated in the financial district today. One report was that the hotels and the Florida East Coast railway had been turned over to J. P. Morgan, presumably for the Southern railway. Another report was that the properties would be owned jointly by the Southern and the Atlantic Coast line. Wall street believes it is J. P. Morgan's plan to build up a larger tourist business to Florida and Cuba and in this connection the establishment of an up-to-date line of steamers between Florida and Cuba is looked for.

WHEN THE GRAND CLIMACTERIC PERIOD OF A WOMAN'S LIFE ARRIVES

Paine's Celery Compound

Takes Her Safely Into After-Life Free From the Ailments and Dangers Common to Her Sex.

Change of life, which usually comes on between the age of forty and fifty, is to thousands of women a time of serious constitutional disturbances. The danger time is made known by irregularities, stomach derangements, headache, nervousness, pain in back and hips, limbs and abdomen frequently swell, piles do their annoying work, there is vertigo, palpitation of the heart and debility.

MRS. NELLIE TAYLOR,
Of Solon, Ohio, Who Has Been Restored to Health by Paine's Celery Compound.

When any of these warning symptoms are experienced, the use of Paine's Celery Compound will do wonders for anxious and suffering women. Paine's Celery Compound used regularly for a few weeks will build up nerve force and physical strength, tone digestion, keep the kidneys and liver in working condition, will banish gloomy fears and give sweet sleep. It has saved thousands of women from terrible sufferings and death. Miss Annie Fasold, of De Witt, Iowa, tells how Paine's Celery Compound made her mother well and strong; she says:

"My mother was taken very sick by approaching change of life and was confined to her bed for seven weeks. We employed the best doctor, but his efforts were of little avail. She could not keep anything on her stomach, could not sleep and she wasted to a shadow. We procured a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound for her. Its use gave grand and wondrous results. She soon slept well at night, got stronger and her appetite returned. She is now well and strong and does her work with pleasure. She would not be without Paine's Celery Compound for any consideration."

ATTORNEYS HAVE ENTIRE FIELD

Trainmen's Wage Problem is Up to the Courts--Men Waiting Developments

MR. KAYSER IS HONORED

Employes of the Department of Which He Was Foreman Give Him a Clock.

St. Louis, March 7.—Far into the night the attorneys of the trainmen and firemen were busy at work last night in the preparation of the petition on which the motion for a dissolution of the injunction will be based. At 9 o'clock this morning, with the corps of stenographers, they took up the work again, but with all the energy they are putting forth they said this morning that they could not definitely state just when the answer to the injunction will be completed. The attorneys have the entire field now and nothing will be done until they are ready to file the answer in the United States district court. The members of the grievance committees are about the corridors of the different hotels waiting for the completion of the legal instrument. At the Wabash general offices President Ramsey and the road's legal advisers are simply waiting for the counsel of the grievance committees to act. The employes are working along as usual throughout the system.

Regarding a rumor that the other roads will join in, should a strike be declared, Vice Grand Master Lee, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, said: "Talk of other roads joining us in a strike is foolish. The only way that could arise would be in a road assisting a road on which a strike is declared by sending men to fill the strikers' places.

"In that case it is probable the grand masters will notify the lodges of the assisting road that this was being done and order a poll for a strike. However, we are going to fight this out with the Wabash only."

John Hopkins, chairman general committee, Order Railway Conductors, has made a statement detailing the grievances existing on the Wabash system, as follows:

"The real grievance is not a case of wages. A violation of the old schedule is one of the causes of complaint. This is done by the company putting on preferred runs with regular crews that get a monthly salary. This cuts the pay for brakemen from two cents a mile to about one and one-quarter; conductors from three cents to two cents, while engineers and firemen receive the same for working on these trains as for any other freight train.

"But this is not the worst feature of the arrangement. After the company had these runs well established the managers commenced to pile on the abuses so fast that one could hardly believe the orders posted in the bulletin books. The first of these was that crews on the Detroit and Chicago runs, after running 270 miles, switch out the merchandise and take it down town without additional pay. The next was 101 miles each way added to the St. Louis merchandise run, making it 202 miles in the round trip additional, with an increase of about $3 per month. This additional mileage alone would make a brakeman $60.60 per month, as it is a daily run, saying nothing of the 200 miles he had already made.

"The next was the Detroit and Chicago crews, after making 270 miles, would wait at Detroit until cars were received and take them down town before being relieved.

"But this is the straw that broke the camel's back: Not satisfied with all this, they put two engines on and make them handle a dead freight train outside of the high class, and now they wonder what we are kicking about. After we work like slaves all winter in all kinds of weather without rest, often for sixty hours at a stretch, we are told we have nothing to complain of.

"In the spring, when navigation opens up and business drops off, these preferred crews, with the big engines and double-headers, can handle about half of the business, and the rest of us can eat dried snowballs of wait until nice, cold, stormy weather comes around again, with its sleet and ice on the running boards on top of the cars.

"The Adams injunction even takes away the right to quit the company's service, and if made permanent, they can hold men as bonded slaves. Now I, for one, an O. R. C. man, and one who voted against a strike, believe in upholding the B. of R. T. and B. of L. F. to the last ditch.

(Signed.) "John Hopkins,
"Chairman General Committee, O. R. C."

Quiet in Fort Wayne.

There is nothing on the surface in Fort Wayne today to indicate any apprehensions of an immediate strike on the Wabash. In fact, nobody here seems to know anything about the situation along the line outside of Fort Wayne. It seems to be generally believed that there will nothing further occur until the injunction question has been settled. Following are the statements of the brotherhood officials and Mr. Ramsey, promised yesterday by the Associated Press:

Brotherhood's Statement.

"A letter was sent to President Ramsey communicating to him the fact that unless he receded from his former position on the grievances within a certain time, the members of the organizations would quit the service of the company. This letter was answered by Mr. Ramsey, and he requested a statement from the committees of the exact points of difference between himself and the men, so that if a strike occurred he might know the reason on which the action was based. About the time this statement was being delivered at his office, the officers of the organizations and the members of the committee were served with a writ of injunction which has been published in full.

"It will be seen by this that to have sanctioned a strike under the circumstances might have been construed a violation of the order of the court. The order of the court, had a strike been declared, might also have been construed as prohibiting the prosecution of the same on the part of the organizations or any of its representatives. The writ of injunction was granted upon a bill of complaint filed by the Wabash Railroad company, alleging an unlawful and malicious conspiracy on the part of the organizations and other allegations equally unfounded and untrue.

"We are taking the necessary legal steps to protect our rights, and we believe we can furnish the court ample facts and sufficient reasons for vacating the order. Until this has been done, these organizations will respect the order of the court. We advise our officers and members, not only on the Wabash system, but elsewhere, to do likewise."

Ramsey's Statement.

"In case the injunction is dissolved, I think a strike is quite likely. In case of dissolution it will probably be ordered at once by the leaders. The Wabash employes will not go out until ordered to do so.

"A strike may inconvenience the Wabash for some time, but it will not tie up the system to any serious extent unless a boycott is ordered at the different terminal and junction points."

Discussing the action of last Monday, President Ramsey said he received the formal notice of the result of the strike ballot on Monday afternoon and was given until noon Tuesday to reply. His reply was delivered to the committee at 6 p. m. Monday. This reply requested the committee to furnish him their ultimatum covering the points which must be conceded to prevent a strike. He waited for a reply until 12:15 p. m. Tuesday, "or fifteen minutes after the hour fixed by the committee itself. Failing to get a reply, I had the injunction served.

"Had this letter reached me by 12:15 the injunction would not have been served at that time, but would have been held back in the hope that further conferences would have prevented the necessity of its service. Even after the injunction was served, I replied in full to the letter received from the committee, being of the opinion that the service of the injunction did not relieve either me or the committee from doing all in our power to arrive at an amicable settlement and prevent the necessity of any strike, and I am of the opinion still.

"My reply was delivered to the committee at 4:45 p. m. Tuesday, or fifteen minutes before the time fixed by them for a reply.

"To this letter I have had no reply whatever.

"The policy of the Wabash is unchanged. It claims it is now paying as good wages and has as equitable rules as any of its competitors. If it is not doing this, it stands ready, injunction or no injunction, to carry out its pledge given to its employes, to advance its wages or change its rules when it is shown to be out of line with its competitors."

Stranger Commits Suicide.

The Valparaiso Messenger tells of a horrible scene witnessed by W. L. Scott, a former resident of Fort Wayne, who is now an engineer on the Valparaiso-Chicago accommodation train. As the train reached the stock yards Engineer Scott saw a man step in front of the engine, place the muzzle of a revolver at his temple and send a bullet through his brain. The train was moving very slowly and Mr. Scott stopped before the engine struck the man. The bullet did its work thoroughly, for life had left the body when the train crew removed it from the tracks. The stranger wished to make doubly sure of death and got upon the tracks in order that the engine might kill him if the shot failed.

Foreman Badly Hurt.

George A. Stoll, assistant erecting foreman at the Pittsburg machine shop, fell backwards into the turntable pit at the old Pittsburg round house last night and received some bad bruises and cuts on the head and hips and the latter were painfully sprained. He was unable to walk and had to be taken to the office, where Dr. C. B. Stemen examined into his injuries and sent him home. The injury to the hip may be the cause of disability for several weeks. Mr. Stoll's hands slipped from the turntable lever and this threw him into the pit.

THE ESQUIMO

The Esquimo eats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

Paid the Debt.

Passenger Traffic Manager Edwards, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, received a letter from a Zanesville man enclosing fifty cents. The writer stated that twenty years ago he had a ride of seven miles on a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton train, for which he did not pay. Having become a church member, he said he wanted to pay up, and the fifty cents would square the account, with interest, for twenty years.

Putting in New Plant.

The H. Franke Lumber company, whose yards and shops are on Hugh street, whose business has outgrown present facilities, placed an order with the Fort Wayne Foundry and Machine company for a 100-horse power boiler and a seventy-five-horse power engine. These will be placed in the works on Hugh street to run a lot of machinery that is soon to be installed there.

Gave the Foreman a Clock.

A sweet toned cuckoo clock will announce the hours at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Kayser hereafter and at the same time remind Mr. Kayser of a most agreeable association at the Fort Wayne Electric works, where he has been employed for twelve years. A moment before the whistle blew the hour of noon today the employes in the department in which Mr. Kayser was the foreman surrounded that gentleman at his desk and Charles Brenner, in behalf of the men, presented Mr. Kayser with a handsome hand carved and imported clock as a token of the high esteem they entertain for him. The recipient was not expecting anything of the kind and was so surprised and overcome by the emotions which welled up in his breast that he was able to stammer only a few words in reply, but actions did what the tongue refused, and the witnesses of the scene were impressed with Mr. Kayser's appreciation of the gift. The clock is one of the prettiest of its kind ever brought to the city. Its case is of oak and the hands of ivory. Encircling the dial is a large wreath of hand carved leaves, imitating the oak. Surmounting the piece is a beautifully carved head of an Elk, while at the lower edge is a dove with wide-spread wings, as if in the act of flying downward. The weights are bronze, suspended by white cords. As The Sentinel stated a week ago, Mr. Kayser retires from the foremanship of that room today and Monday assumes the foremanship of the larger machine room in the new part of the works. He is succeeded in the old shop by William Brennan, who has been employed there thirteen years. Mr. Kayser learned the machinist's trade in the Indiana Machine company's works. He began his term of service at the Electric works twelve years ago and shortly afterwards was appointed assistant foreman of the room from which he now retires. Four years ago he was appointed the foreman.

Wabash Engine Output.

During the week ending today the Wabash shops turned over to service the following engines, all of which received heavy repairs: Nos. 12, 328, 352, 411 and 655. Next week will probably witness a larger output.

Had a Smoker.

Blacksmiths' Helpers' union, No. 6818, held a smoker last evening, after the regular lodge work closed. Five new names were placed on the membership roll last evening, bringing the total up to forty, and there are a number of applications to be considered at the next meeting.

Scalp Badly Cut.

Roy Bayliss, who lives with his parents at 2447 Gay street and works at the Bass foundry, received a bad gash in the head from a blow with a piece of iron in the hands of a shopmate. The blow is said to have been accidental, but its results were none the less serious.

Bushey's crew and Mr. Richards in Conductor Walter Terry's crew.

Passenger Conductor Fitch, who has been on the Lake Shore road for many years, slipped and fell at Lenawee Junction, Mich., a few days ago and broke the second finger of his left hand.

The new engine at the Western Gas works is about ready to be started and the wiring for the motors and lights in the new shops will be finished Monday. In a short time the entire plant will be in operation.

Charles Duncan, a train dispatcher, has resigned his position with the Wabash at Peru and has taken a similar position at Carbondale, Ill., with the Illinois Central. He was with the Wabash six years.

The bulletin of the appointment of W. S. Cooper general foreman of the Brooklyn shops of the Wabash was received at the Wabash offices this morning. The Sentinel mentioned the appointment two weeks ago.

Edward S. Glasscock, of Harrisburg, Ill., who prevented the wreck of a Big Four passenger train there recently, has been given a pass for himself and family over the entire system for a period of ninety-nine years.

John Reardon, of the Pennsylvania, passed the cigars among his fellow laborers this morning, on account of the arrival of a pretty little daughter at his home. Mr. and Mrs. Reardon reside at 315 Dawson street.

W. F. Gaskill, A. P. Mueller, C. H. Philley, C. W. Rodenbeck, Paul A. Meyers, Emanuel Zorbaugh and E. Pearson, Pittsburg shopmen, are sick and off duty. Machinist Thomas Shepherd, who had been at the Hot Springs sanitarium, reported for duty this morning.

Henry Mailand has resigned his position at the Electric works to take a position in a stone yard. A good many of the laborers in the shops will soon be seeking outdoor employment, which is more congenial than a position in the shops.

Hugh Prince, the Wabash fireman who was badly scalded when an engine ran away in the yards at Peru several months ago and published in these columns at the time, has left the hospital and gone to his home in Toledo. He will soon be able to resume work.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Walters have gone to Minneapolis, where Mr. Walters will get artificial legs to take the place of the limbs lost in an accident in the Pennsylvania yards some months ago. Mr. Walters' speedy recovery from the accident is considered remarkable, as very few injured as he was survive the accident.

August Bruder is the general time inspector for the eastern division of the Wabash and all the watches of the trainmen and enginemen will be inspected and repaired by him. Formerly the company employed traveling time inspectors, but that practice has been abolished.

North Manchester Journal: "Monday a car of gasoline was transferred from the Vandalia to the Big Four that was leaking at a right merry clip. It did not take long for the news to spread and in a few minutes about all the people of that part of town were at the car with almost every conceivable kind of a vessel, gathering up the flowing 'gas.' But there was no smoking being done."

The Maintenance of Way association, a labor organization which has its origin in Illinois, on the Chicago and Alton road, is meeting with wonderful success, according to news from that quarter. The organizers will endeavor to place a lodge on every railway division in Illinois and when they accomplish this they will turn their attention to other states. This organization is chiefly for the section men, who are the poorest paid class of labor in the railway service.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

Both the courts had a very quiet day today. In the superior court there was practically nothing doing. In the circuit court the commissioners appointed to partition the estate of the late Mrs. A. B. Trentman reported that they had already accomplished their work, which report was confirmed, and this with a decree to quiet title in the case of Stephen Surface et al. vs. John Griffith et al. comprised practically all that was done.

The county commissioners today sat as a gravel board and audited and allowed the bills of the several superintendents in the different districts. They also received bids for indexing the records in the auditor's office, Auditor Smith and ex-Auditor Ortleib being the only two biddees. The contract will be awarded next Saturday.

Dr. I. N. Treece, of Findlay, O., was in the city this morning en route to the Kankakee marsh on a duck hunt. While here he took out a state hunting license, which cost him just $25.50. They come high, but must be had to hunt in Indiana.

County Commissioner Schnitker was distributing cigars to his friends today in commemoration of the fact that he has reached the fifty-sixth milestone in life's journey.

Deputy Sheriff Reichelderfer yesterday arrested Thomas McCarty, an employe at the knitting mills, for participating in the riot on "Hungry Hill" several weeks ago, for which he was indicted by the grand jury. He gave bond in the sum of $200, with W. P. Breen as surety.

John Cowel, arrested Friday by Deputy Sheriff Ryan for defrauding John Minster, of Monroeville, out of a board bill, was sent to jail for 10 days by Justice Tancey yesterday in default of money to pay a fine of $10.

Yesterday afternoon Laura Coble, (colored) secured an order from Judge O'Rourke restraining L. R. Singleton from paying her husband, Cicero Coble any part of the wages now owing him by said Singleton. "I am," said Mr. Hennessy. "I put th' pipe back iv th' clock day before yisterdah night. Oh, but th' las' whiff iv th' ol' clay was plisint. Ar-re ye keepin' Lent?"

"I am that," said Mr. Dooley. "I'm on'y smokin' me seegars half through an' I take no sugar in me tay. Th' Lord give me stren'th to last till Pathrick's day! I'm keepin' Lent but I'm not goin' up an' down th' sthreet tallin' people about it. I ain't anny prouder iv keepin' Lent thin I am iv keepin' clean. In our fam'ly we've always kept it. I raymimber seein' me father tuck away th' pipe, cork up th' bottle an' put it in a thrunk with something between a moan an' a cheer an' begin to find fault with th' wurruld. F'r us kids Lent was no gr-reat hardship. It on'y meant not enough iv something besides meat. I don't raymimber much about it excipt that on Ash Winsdah ivrybody had a smudge on his forehead; an' afther awhile th' house began to smell a little iv fish an' about th' thirtieth day th' eggs had thrown off all disguise an' was jus' plain, yellow eggs.

"Yes, sir, in our fam'ly we all kep' Lent but me Uncle Mike. He started with th' rest an' f'r a day or two he wint up an' down th' road whippin' butchers. 'Twas with gr-reat difficulty, Henessy, that he was previnted fr'm marchin' into th' neighborin' saloons an' poorin' out th' sthrong wathers on th' flure. F'r a short distance me Uncle Mike was th' most pious man I have iver met. At such times he organized th' Uncle Michael, th' Good S'ciety, an' wint ar-round inityatin' mimbers. To hear him talk about 9 o'clock on Ash Winsdah mornin' ye'd think he was jus' goin' into th' arena to fight a line befure th' onholy Roman popy-lace. He'd take down 'Th' Lives iv th' Saints' an' set r-readin' it with a condescindin' smile on his face like a champeen athleet goin' over th' ol' records. 'Oh, yes,' he seemed to be sayin', 'they were all r-right, very good in their day, no doubt, but where wud they be now? They'se no mintion iv Saint Jerome goin' without his smoke an' I haven't had a pipe iv tobacky since 12 o'clock las' Choosdah night an' here it's 9 o'clock Winsdah mornin'.' Thin he wud look casually to'rd th' back iv th' book to see whether p'raps something mightn't have been put in about him at th' las' moment an' thin he wud throw it down an' say to himsilf: '"Th' Lives iv th' Saints" for eighteen hunderd an' fifty ain't out yet,' an' march savagely fr'm th' room, kickin' his nieces an' nevvews as he wint. At 4 o'clock in th' afthernoon he was discovered be me father settin' on a saw horse in th' woodshed, puffin' away at a pipe with a bowl like a small stove that he'd took away fr'm a German, an' singin' to himsilf.

"But me Uncle Mike, though a gr-reat warryor in his day an' th' soul iv s'ciety, was not a model f'r a long-distance Christyan champeen. He started with th' rest iv us, but he always pulled up lame. Th' throuble with him an' th' throuble with th' rest iv us is that we expict to be canonized in time to show th' brief to th' fam'ly at dinner. So I say I don't go ar-round cillybratin' Lent. I don't expict Father Kelly will sind down th' Father Macchew Fife an' Dhrum corps to serenade me because I left that lump iv sugar out iv me tay an' put in twice as much milk. Whin th' postman comes to th' dure with th' usual line iv bills an' love letthers fr'm th' tailors me hands don't thremble expictin' a note fr'm th' pope tellin' me I've been canonized. No, sir, I congrathylate mesilf on me sthrong will power an' rayflict that sugar makes people fat. I am niver goin' to place anny medals on annywan f'r bein' varchous, Hinnissy, f'r if varchue ain't always necissity, me boy, it's th' nex' thing to it. I'm tim'prate because too much dhrink doesn't agree with me; modest because I look best that way; gin'rous because I don't want to be thought stingy; honest because iv th' polis foorce, an' brave whin I can't r-run away.

"Dock Grogan, who's an ol' pagan, don't agree with Father Kelly on more than two things, though they're th' frindliest iv inimies, an' wan iv thim is Lent. Father Kelly says 'tis good f'r th' soul an' Dock Grogan he says 'tis good f'r th' body. It comes at th' r-right time iv th' year, he says, whin ivrybody has had a winther iv stuffin' thimsilves an' floodin' their inteeryors an' settin' up late at night. It's a kind iv a sthand off f'r th' Chris'mas holidays. We quit atin' meat because 'tis Lent—an' we've had too much meat. We quit smokin' because 'tis Lent—an' we have a smokers' heart. We quit dhrink because 'tis Lent—an' we want to see if th' brakes ar-re wurrukin'. We quit goin' to th' theayters because 'tis Lent—an' we're sick iv th' theayters. If it wasn't f'r Lent in March none iv us wud live till th' Foorth iv July. 'In Lent,' says Father Kelly, 'I get me congregation back.' 'In Lent,' says Dock Grogan, 'I lose mine.' 'Lent,' says Father Kelly, 'brings thim nearer hiven.' 'An' longer away,' says Dock Grogan. 'It's hard wurruk f'r me, but I like it,' says Father Kelly. 'It's my vacation time,' says Dock Grogan, 'but I don't care f'r it.' 'It makes thim think iv th' nex' wurruld,' says Father Kelly. 'An' gives thim a betther hold on this,' says Dock Grogan. 'It's rellijon,' says Father Kelly. 'It's med'cine,' says Dock Grogan.

"So I say, no medals, plaze, f'r me on account iv that lump iv sugar. I done me jooty an' no more. Whin th' divvle timpted me to put in th' lump I said: 'Get thee behind me, Satan, I'm too fat now.' That was all. I done what was r-right because it was r-right an' pious an' a good thing f'r me to do. I don't claim no gratichood. I don't ask f'r anny admiration iv me piety. But don't I look betther, Hinnissy? Don't ye see I'm a little thinner?"

"Not an inch," said Mr. Hennessy. "Ye're th' same hippypotymus ye was."

"Well, well," said Mr. Dooley. "That's sthrange. P'raps I'm a betther man afther all. How long did ye say it was to Pathrick's day?"

GREAT GOLD DISCOVERIES IN INDIANA.

"Gold! Gold! Gold!" The siren's song is throwing Indiana into a fever. Already it is predicted that old Hoosierdom is to become the greatest placer gold mining state in the union. Lands back in the hills of Morgan, Brown and Johnson counties that two weeks ago could have been purchased for from $3 to $5 an acre have suddenly gone up in value and their owners are figuring on taking from $2,500 to $25,000 of gold out of every acre. A hydraulic gold mine is in operation this week within twenty-three miles of the gilded dome of the Indiana state house.

For a hundred years or more it has been known that there was gold back in the hills of the Indiana counties, and for over half a century a queer lot of illiterate, grizzly recluses have been washing gold back in the hills, making from $1 to $2 a day. The gold that they brought into market occasionally in little bags and in vials passed assay in the government mint on an equality with Snake river gold, the finest standard in the United States. Rings, eyeglass rims and pieces of jewelry have been made of the Indiana gold, but it remained for an old California miner, who came east a month ago for his firm, to open up the first hydraulic gold mine in the state. It has been operating a week and Indiana has the gold fever as the result. State Geologist Blatchley, who has made several investigations of the gold regions during the last year, is out with a statement that he has great confidence in the future of the state as a gold placer mining section. He says the entire state is sown with gold.

MINERS FROM CALIFORNIA.

The hydraulic mine that has been opened during the last week is located in Morgan county, north of Martinsville, the county seat. It is a small affair compared with those in the west that tear down banks four, five and six hundred feet high, but it is capable of thoroughly developing the fifty-foot hill in which the gold is lodged along the hill streams of Morgan, Brown and Johnson counties. The constructing engineer is F. F. Taylor, a miner of twenty years' experience in construction work in the California placer mining fields. Before the hydraulic mine was constructed Taylor and R. L. Royse, an Indiana gold expert, made thorough investigation with the pan, with rockers and with small flumes and realized 50 cents a yard. The first clean-up on the hydraulic mine has not yet been made, but it is confidently expected that it will run 40 cents a yard. Such a panning out would mean that Indiana would immediately blossom forth as one of the greatest gold mining states in the union. In most of the California placer mining camps dirt is being worked out that yields but 10 cents a square yard, and there the water rates are high.

State Geologist W. S. Blatchley, who is noted for his conservatism, is taking a great deal of stock in the work that is being done. He said today: "We know that men have spent all their lives panning gold in the Indiana hills. I have spent some time with them and have seen them wash out $1 to $2 a day with the crudest methods known—the pan. They have made good livings, raised big families, and bear testimony to the fact that they have washed gold, for they have never done any other work. If these men can earn $1.50 a day washing out gold with a pan or a crude rocker I don't see why placer mining would not be highly profitable if the right kind of machinery was used."

R. L. Royse, who has brought about the present development, is a well educated, conservative man, who three years ago became convinced that there was gold in the Indiana hills that would cause a national sensation if it was ever handled by improved methods. For over three years he has been prospecting in the hills and here and there has been picking out tracts of land that showed good tests. He now has 2,500 acres under his absolute control and has supervision over 6,000 or 8,000 acres more. Royse's honest motives are generally recognized and give stability to the present operations.

TOO VALUABLE FOR COINAGE.

Royse said: "For three years I have been telling the people of the state that Indiana would some day become the greatest gold placer mining state in the union. They at first laughed at me. Finally, State Geologist Blatchley came to my rescue, and now the United States geological department is interested enough to make an investigation. I don't know how this hydraulic washup will pan out, but I do know that there is enough gold in these surrounding hills to pay off the debt of the nation and then have some left. The mint assay credits the gold from these hills with 909½ per cent. purity, and while California and Klondike gold is selling from $14 to $18 an ounce, Indiana and Snake river gold brings $22.50, and is really too valuable for coinage. While the investigation has been going on Tiffany and other jewelers, who recognize the extra purity of the gold, have been purchasing it for their finest jewelry.

The gold in Indiana is not, as is generally supposed, confined to the hills. The whole northern two-thirds of the state is sown with it. When the washing begins in earnest we will find them washing gold out of the streets of Indianapolis. I myself panned gold out of an Indianapolis street and found it in gravel that was thrown out of Washington street in the business district of the city. The time is near at hand when Indiana will be a mining state that will attract as much attention as Colorado or the Klondike section, or South Africa. Of course, this will be considered a wild statement, but I think I have given three years to finding out that it is a true one."

Simple Remedy For Catarrh

JUST BREATHE HYOMEI FOUR TIMES A DAY AND BE CURED.

If a few years ago some one had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air charged with a healing balsam, the idea would have been ridiculed and it remained for R. T. Booth, that eminent investigator, to discover in Hyomei this method of cure.

Hyomei has performed the most miraculous cures of catarrh and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims.

The complete outfit of Hyomei costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei.

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation, and effects a complete and lasting cure.

The treasurer of the American Life Insurance Company, J. S. Nugent, of New York city, writes: "Hyomei has completely cured my daughter of catarrh from which she has been a sufferer for years."

In Fort Wayne there are scores of well-known people who say they have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei. If it does not cure you, Meyer Bros. & Co. will return the money you paid for Hyomei. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to their faith in the remedy.

Bulgaria's chief exports are wheat, wine and attar of roses.

Coverdale, W. D. Fithian, J. H. Thompson and T. H. Adamson.

IS NEARING COMPLETION.

The work of finishing the interior of the new edifice to be occupied by the congregation of Berry Street M. E. church is being pushed as rapidly as posisble, and the Sunday school room will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks. It will probably be two months before the auditorium can be occupied, but as soon as the Sunday school room is finished all services will be held there, and the old building at the corner of Berry and Harrison will be abandoned.

WEIGHT INSTEAD OF MEASURE.

Suffering caused by the coal famine and the exorbitant prices charged for the "pailful" of anthracite suggests the compulsory substitution of weight for measure in the retail trade or the introduction of the French system. The present system prevailing here operates with especial severity upon the poor.

In the matter of coal, for instance, the man purchasing coal by the ton or half ton can buy by weight. He pays only for what he gets, and knows exactly what that is. The same coal is sold by the pailful at something like double the price, and the ton is delivered at the expense of the dealer, while the pailful is lugged home by the purchaser.

A "pailful" of coal is almost as indefinite as a "basket" of strawberries. Any observer must see at a glance that some of these "pailfuls" of coal doled out to the poor as a favor for from 12 to 15 cents, are really but from twelve to fifteen pounds of coal, some of which is shale and dirt. The coal purchased in this way will average a cent a pound—$24 a ton. This while the coal is retailed by the ton at $7 or $8, and has cost this benevolent dealer who prates of favor but $5.50 a ton.

Men who charge these pailful prices are purely and simply robbers of the poor and oppressors of the needy and unfortunate. And this is not the worst. They deceive their pitiful customers at every step—something they would be unable to do if required to sell by weight. The first step is to frighten them with the story that no coal is to be had for any money; the next is to scrape around and see if a little bit can be spared as a favor, and the next is to throw 5 cents' worth of debris into a shallow pail with a false bottom and charge a cent a pound for it by a measure unknown to the law or custom.

The United States throws the protection of its credit around legal weights and measures, then permits every dealer to use any kind of measure he pleases—false bottoms, false scales, according to his conscience.

In France they do things better, so far as this feature of daily life is concerned. Sales of anything that can be measured are by weight. Coal, potatoes, strawberries, etc., are retailed by weight in Paris the same as meat, and government inspectors are constantly on the alert for defective scales and weights, descending at all hours upon street venders, suspected grocers and market dealers to verify their weighing machinery.

Here we regard that sort of robbery with indifference. Yet it would seem that if the workingmen's unions would direct their powerful influence toward securing the working classes against the extortion of adulterated food, false measures and bogus weights they would do more for suffering humanity, and especially for the proletariat, than by simply combining in sporadic struggles with capital.

BOURKE COCKRAN ILL ABROAD.

New York, March 7.—W. Bourke Cockran is ill at Assouan, Egypt, with bronchial pneumonia. For a week his condition was extremely dangerous, but a private cablegram received yesterday announced that the crisis had been passed and that the patient was improving.

Mr. Cockran left New York some time ago for a tour of Europe. After a stay in England and France he decided to pass a month in Egypt. He visited Cairo and then went up the Nile. He had planned to reach Assouan and then make a tour of the desert.

On reaching Assouan, however, Mr. Cockran became ill. For a week he suffered severely, but excellent medical attention was procured and it is believed his recovery is assured.

INDICTED FOR REBATING.

Louisville, March 7.—The crusade against rebating in Kentucky reached its ebb this week, when at Bowling Green the grand jury indicted several agents for dividing their premiums with the assured. The agents represent the Northwestern Mutual Life, United States Life, Phoenix Life and Manhattan Life. W. B. Pace, the representative of the Manhattan Life, indicted, is one of the best known life underwriters in the state. The cases against the life agents will come up for trial at Bowling Green at the approaching April criminal term of the circuit court.

BOSTON MISSIONARY EXILED.

Boston, March 7.—Word has been received here that William Miller, a Boston missionary who went to Russian Poland some months ago to work among the poorer classes in an effort to educate them, has been arrested by the police and exiled to Siberia.

The Russian government makes it a crime to educate or attempt to educate the Poles.

A mass meeting of Russian-Polish-American citizens has been called to act in his behalf and Secretary Hay has been appealed to to secure Miller's release.

SIGHTLESS WOMAN PLEADS.

Boston, Mass., March 7.—Helen Keller, one of the blind students at Radcliffe, made an eloquent address yesterday on a bill providing industrial education for the blind.

Her trenchant phrase, "Already Massachusetts has delayed too long in the work in which she should lead," became a text for several of the subsequent speakers, while her graceful speech, brief in its unstudied simplicity, carried conviction to all who heard it. She said:

"It is terrible to be blind and uneducated, but it is worse for the blind who have finished their education to be idle. Their very education becomes a burden because they cannot use it. They think, think, think in the long days that are nights and contrast with bitter longing the school days, full of books and music with the helpless inactive present. The greater their ambition to do useful work the more cruel their disappointment."

Mr. Ziemendorff,

19 Wagner St., Fort Wayne, writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending Paracamph for burns, cuts, swellings and all inflammations. It not only relieves instantly, but quickly heals and cures. I consider it a most valuable household remedy, and think every family should keep a bottle in their home."

Mr. Ziemendorff purchased Paracamph from Meyer Bros. & Co.

Every bottle of Paracamph is guaranteed to do just what we claim for it.

Why Should You Possess This Valuable Work?

Because it is the duty of every American to be able to speak and read the English language CORRECTLY. In order to obtain thorough knowledge on any subject, or to form a sound judgment, it is necessary that you be familiar with every word—the spelling, the pronunciation and meaning of each word used in speech or current literature. No one can catch the exact thought which an author or speaker intends to convey unless he knows the significance of all the words used. THEREFORE, a Dictionary is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY—THE BEST, THE MOST ACCURATE AND COMPLETE THAT CAN BE OBTAINED—

"WEBSTER'S ENCYCLOPEDIC DICTIONARY"

In which every word is CORRECTLY DEFINED, CORRECTLY PRONOUNCED, CORRECTLY SPELLED, and the use and meaning of various words illustrated by apt quotations. Many hours of hard labor were spent by the distinguished authors in making this the MODEL DICTIONARY. The best special dictionaries on various branches of knowledge and the leading encyclopedias were consulted and taken as authorities, so that this dictionary

IS UNEXCELLED IN PROFUSENESS AND EXCELLENCY OF SUBJECT MATTER.

This Book Is Being Sold at $9.00 by the Publishers.

THE SENTINEL has made arrangements for a number of these Dictionaries at about one-third their value, and are putting them out to their subscribers in weekly installments. Solicitors will call on all our citizens and explain the plan.

A CARD

FROM DR. W. H. HALE, OF THE RED CROSS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Editor Sentinel:

Sir—During the past six months the Fort Wayne branch of the Red Cross Medical association, located at 723 Clinton street, has given its services entirely free to over 2,000 invalids, having charged each just a sufficient sum to cover the actual cost of treatment. Nearly 1,900 of these invalids have been discharged cured, notwithstanding the fact that many of them suffered from maladies that had been pronounced incurable. Numerous letters, bearing evidence of this fact, have appeared in your columns from time to time.

To give your readers a more intelligent idea concerning the maladies we have cured in our Fort Wayne office during the past six months, we give the following facts from our books:

Diseases.	Cured.
Catarrh	216
Female Weakness	243
Goitre, Tumor	119
Piles, Fistula	107
Cancer	69
Opium Habit	42
Deafness	180
Blood Poison	104
Rupture	56
Varicocele	143
Hydrocele	27
Weakness of men	218
Skin Disease	74
Sterility	69
Heart Disease	28
Miscellaneous	217
Total	1,892

The object of the Red Cross Medical association in giving its services free to such a large number of invalids, and for such a prolonged period, was for the express purpose of making its superior skill known to the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity, and of demonstrating its ability to cure Catarrh and Catarrhal Deafness, also Male and Female Weakness and Rupture, Varicocele, Goitre, Cancer and all diseases of the rectum.

This fact being now proven to the great majority of your readers, it is now in order for us to announce that our office is permanently located at 723 Clinton street, and that on and after this date, we will give only consultation free to all invalids, that we will make a charge of $2.00 for a thorough examination, with advice in each case, and that our charges for treatment will be as reasonable as is consistent with first class treatment.

Yours respectfully,

W. H. HALE, M. D.

MEN-APES AND APE-MEN OF THE PHILIPPINES

A correspondent of La Nature a few years ago published an essay on the "location of the earthly paradise," and, after comparing several former conjectures, came to the conclusion that the cradle of mankind stood in some region of our planet where "tribes of primitive human beings dwell near the haunts of intelligent four-handers," i. e., where the low development of savages and the high development of their tree-climbing cousins reduce the gap of the "missing link." According to that theory the treaty of Paris may have saddled us with the veritable "Lemuria," the birthland of our Darwinian grandfather, writes F. L. Oswald.

The Negritos of the Philippines have a fair claim to the prestige of the most primitive savages on earth, and at least three species of their four-handed neighbors rival the intelligence of the orang-outang. So close, indeed, is the approach of human and simian types in some of the south islands that the word "quadrumana" begins to lose its distinctive significance, the bushmen of Leyte being gifted with a talent for using their toes and fingers in climbing trees and fishing edible miscellanies from the bottom of the pond.

In Mindanao, too, there are forest dwellers that take refuge in the vine-tangle of tree tops whenever their terra firma haunts become untenable; and the same island is favored with the acrobatic performances of the Gibbon ape, one of the "primates" of the animal kingdom, and certainly the supreme gymnast of our latter-day world.

The hylobates niger, as zoologists call that Blondin of the tropics, scorns the assistance of a "fifth hand;" he is as tailless as a chimpanzee, yet as fearless as a bird in darting through the bush-rope tangle of the coast forests, often at a height of 80 feet above the ground. With his superhuman arms and tight-clutching fists he darts up a swaying vine at trolley speed and moves through the top branches of leaf-shrouded trees with a nimbleness that confuses the aim of the best marksmen.

He is an equally good actor in a different sense of the word. Captured specimens, after realizing the hopelessness of resistance, simulate a personal attachment for their jailer, and will caress him for hours together or try to endear themselves by entomological researches. In Manila an American physician last year bought a female Gibbon, scarcely half grown, but gifted with an inquisitiveness equaled only by her talent for feigning despair whenever her owner ventured to thwart her penchant. "Her former landlord," he says, "seemed to have indulged her in a propensity for rummaging boxes and coffers, for whenever I attempted to circumscribe the limits of that pastime my pet tried to bring down the house, metaphorically and literally, by throwing herself upon the floor and tugging violently at the curtains and bell ropes. If that failed to soften my heart, Panchita became sick. With groans and sobs she would lie down in a corner, preparing to shed the mortal coil and adjusting the pathos of the closing scene to the degree of my obstinacy. One day she had set her heart upon exploring the letter department of my chest of drawers, and after driving her off several times, I locked the door and pocketed the key. Panchita did not suspect the full meaning of my act till she had pulled at the knobs and squinted through the keyhole, but when she realized the truth, life ceased to be worth living; she collapsed at once, and had hardly strength enough left to drag herself to the stove. There she lay, bemoaning her untimely fate and stretching her legs as if the rigor mortis had already overcome her lower extremities. Ten minutes later her supper was brought in, and I directed the boy to leave the basket behind the stove, in full sight of my guest. But Panchita's eyes assumed a far-off expression; the vanities of earth had lost their charm. Meaning to try her, I accompanied the boy to the staircase and the victim of my cruelty gave me a parting look of intense reproach. But stealing back on tiptoes we managed to come upon her unawares, and Panchita looked rather sheepish when we caught her in the act of enjoying an excellent meal."

The bush baboon, or wanderoo, with his lion mane and guttural whoop, tries the effects of intimidation on the youngsters that guard the Filipino rice fields; and the smaller macacus silenus, or rock baboon, enjoys the reputation of being the most expert thief of his size, even in a country that produces hill foxes.

In scheming to rob an orchard, a troop of the wily marauders will send a couple of scouts ahead to divert the attention of the proprietor, who keeps up a shower of sticks and stones at the screeching brutes on the fence, while the champion foragers of the tribe quietly make away with mangos and bananas at the other end of the inclosure.

Children of 8 and 9 years begin to try their luck at shoplifting, and they can nearly all steal with their toes. Leaning across the counter, with his hands piously folded, a youngster of that race will engage the shopkeeper in conversation, and perhaps really buy a penny's worth of some top-shelf knicknack, or express his rapture at the artistic merits of a saint's picture on one of the interior walls, but all the same get his toes clutched around some article on the floor, and watch his chance to toss it out into the street, into the hands of his lurking accomplice.

Caught in the act, a Negrito thief will nearly always try to effect his escape; salvation by flight appears to be a fixed idea of the aboriginal mind. The youngsters in the mission schools take to their heels if the teacher turns upon them to frown down a squabble; the culprit before the bar tries to make a break for the door when the counsel for the prosecution sums up his case.

And to run down one of these nimble-footed half-men is no child's play, even for a Manila policeman with a couple of canine assistants. There is a regulation against firing off pistols in the streets, except in life-and-death emergencies, and taking advantage of that by-law, a Negrito market thief will jerk away from his captor, and, with constables and collie dogs close at his heels, suddenly give them the slip by scrambling up a balcony pillar and disappear in a labyrinth of back yards before the pursuers have managed to arouse the neighborhood.

That hide-and-seek talent has been perfected by the influence of what the biologist Carpenter calls "cumulative heredity." The ape-like savages in the forests of Negros and Mindanao have been at it for an endless series of generations. They are Ishmaels, with every man's hand against them, and their quiver of poisoned arrows always in reach; but the idea of a pitched battle fight never appears to enter their woolheads. If they fight at all, they fight from ambush; and at sight of hostile odds they vanish with the abruptness of scared weasels. The Spaniards, indeed, ridiculed the idea of tackling adversaries of that sort without the aid of trained hounds.

Nine out of ten such fugitives are probably up a tree and hidden in the tangle of the top branches before the leader of the pursuers has given the order to stop and listen. There may be a crackle of breaking twigs, a momentary glimpse of a black face grinning down through the fork of a tree at a height of a hundred feet.

They are congeners of the bush baboons, in fact, these predatory, furtive aborigines of the Philippine mountain forests—born tree climbers, with pot-hook fingers and nimbly prehensile toes; with skulls not quite as flat as the curiosum discovered in the cavern of Neander-thal, but, all in all, certainly the most ape-like men of our latter-day world.

WOULD CURE ROCKEFELLER.

Ayer, Mass., March 7.—Rockefeller's offer of $1,000,000 to the person who can give him a new stomach or, in other words, restore his present digestive organs to normal conditions, is to be sought by Charles Gibson, a United States railway mail clerk who runs on the Worcester, Nashua and Portland division of the Boston and Maine road. Mr. Gibson is a healer of the magnetic type and practices his art or gift now and then on his fellow employes. His treatments have been so successful that he is now in correspondence with the Standard Oil magnate.

Among his alleged cures is that of a young woman who had valvular disease of the heart and who had been kept to her bed four years. Gibson gave her ten minutes' treatment and a few hours later she amazed her physician by walking into his office unannounced. Various Boston policemen are today said to be walking their beats because Mr. Gibson restored them to health.

hills are pointed out by Royse and Geologist Blatchley as good testimonials of the presence of gold in particles as big as grains of wheat. Quite often when they are killed gold is found lodged in their craws. They have picked it up, mistaking it for grains of wheat or corn, and, being heavy, the gold has lodged in their craws. It is not necessary to go further back than two weeks to get plenty of testimony of this kind. Mrs. George Johnson, who lives just across the river from the city of Martinville, killed a duck that had picked up its dinners along the little stream that ran through the barn lot. She cleaned up the craw of the fowl and netted $2.10. William Bothwell, who lives seven miles from Martinville, near the settlement of Wilbur, killed a chicken last week that netted him 90 cents. A farmer out in Robert Maxwell's neighborhood, near Martinsville, killed a duck a week ago that was a veritable Klondike. These finds are not unusual and do not attract wide attention among the people of the gold country.

During the last week "Dead Man's Holler," a hilly country near Martinsville, has been adding testimony of the presence of gold. Four men, operating a crude little rocker, took out $20 one day. That, however, was an exceptional day's work.

FINE DIAMONDS AND RUBIES.

The hydraulic operations have caused a panic among the grizzly recluses who have been panning the gold. They are a quaint lot, with queer names. The king of their camps is a 40 year old, wild eyed, red bearded man who can neither read nor write, and who goes by the name of "Wild Bill Stafford." He is king because he is known all over the gold fields as the man that found the $12 nugget and that drank seventy-five schooners of beer in one day without getting drunk. Bill, as a rule, operates in "Gold Creek Holler." He cleans up $3 a day when he works steadily. "Old Man Moon" is a Brown county washer. "Old Man Jim Stanley," who operates around in "Highland Holler," put his name into the history of the gold diggin's by finding a $200 diamond, which was sold in the Indianapolis market. Quite a number of large diamonds and a number of valuable rubies have been found. "Old Man Stanley" has been washing gold in the hills for over forty-two years and he has raised a big family of washers. They live in a little cabin way back in the hills of Gold creek. W. J. Richards, the boss washer of Brown county, has been at it for over forty years and has money in bank. At present he is operating a great circular device of his own construction, through which he runs the dirt at the rate of seven or eight yards a day. "Bill" Merriman is the patriarch of the section. He won't permit a stranger to get within a half mile of him, so secretive is he concerning his operations.

PLENTY OF "PAY DIRT."

Taylor, the California miner, who built the hydraulic mine and the flumes, says the Indiana dirt is of the same character that is found in California, except that there is no cement in it, which makes the operations in California so costly. He thinks that there is a great deal of dirt in the Indiana hills that will run over $1 a yard. He says that with the latest devices dirt can be handled now that runs but 4 cents a yard, and can be handled at a big profit.

State Geologist Blatchley holds to the theory that the gold was brought down by the glaciers. It is found where the glaciers from Hudson bay ended, and deposited great banks of conglomerate. He says that while the deposit, of course, is the heaviest gold bearing, all of the northern half of the state was strewn with gold by those glaciers. Royse holds that all of that territory can be worked profitably.

THE MEN AND WOMEN

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What Is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that qualities of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain permanently to universal acceptance. However loudly heralded, they may not hope for world-wide preeminence unless they meet with the general approval, not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting, enjoying and learning the real worth of the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well informed of all countries the method of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. The above is true not of food products only, but is especially applicable to medicinal agents and after nearly a quarter of a century of growth and general use the excellent remedy, Syrup of Figs, is everywhere accepted, throughout the world, as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system and presented in the form of a pleasant and refreshing liquid, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. Ask any physician who is well informed and he will answer at once that it is an excellent laxative. If at all eminent in his profession and has made a special study of laxatives and their effects upon the system he will tell you that it is the best of family laxatives, because it is simple and wholesome and cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after-effects. Every well-informed druggist of reputable standing knows that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative and is glad to sell it, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, because it gives general satisfaction, but one should remember that in order to get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs it is necessary to buy the genuine, which is sold in original packages only; the name of the remedy—Syrup of Figs and also the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

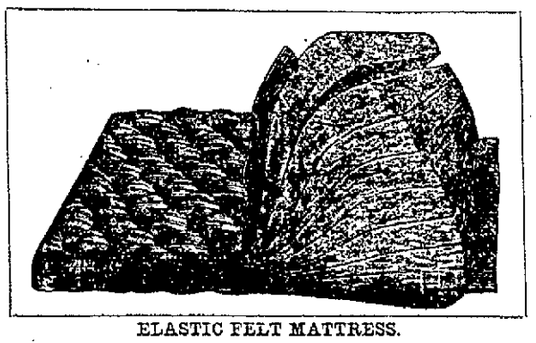
To Give you the Greatest Assortment from Which to Choose.

We don't want your trade if, to get it, we are forced to handle and to sell you poorly-made, trashy goods. If we sell you a carpet at 25 cents a yard or one at $1.25, we want both to be better for the price than you can procure anywhere else on earth.

Hair mattresses are practically a thing of the past. The Elastic Felt has driven them out by reason of its superiority over all other materials for mattress making. The people who are doing so much magazine advertising of Elastic Felt Mattresses and selling them at $15 each are getting 50 per cent. more than their mattress is worth.



ELASTIC FELT MATTRESS.

We have one of these $15 Felt Mattresses at our store, with the stamp of the makers upon it. We have opened the end that you may see the quality of the felt. COLONEL BUNKER

He Tells of His Many Experiences With Editors

[Copyright, 1902, by Warner Muller.]

"As a public man for forty years past," said Colonel Bunker as he sipped at his glass and set it aside for a moment, "I have met up with a large number of editors. Very few of them have understood me from the first, but in the end most of them have become my good friends.

"Take the case of the editor of the Clarion," resumed the colonel as old recollections brought a smile to his face. "It was years and years ago, suh, and I was a candidate for the legislature of my state. I opened the campaign with a speech that went hustling over the state like grapeshot and gave me instant standing as an orator, but the Clarion saw fit to criticise and ridicule and pronounce it an old woman's lament. As soon as I had read the criticism I took a walk. I found the editor in. Without the slightest reference to his article and in my suavest tones I said:

"'My deah suh, at what hour in the mawning do yo' generally arise?'

"'About 9 o'clock, colonel,' was the reply.

"'Would yo', in order to oblige me, make the hour sunrise tomorrow mawning? Also, would you put in an appearance at the place knowu as Scott's grove? There is to be a little shooting match there at ten paces, and it will furnish yo' an interesting item.'

"'Do I know any of the parties?' he asked in a voice full of anxiety.

"'I think yo' do, suh. One of them will be Colonel Bunker and the other yo'self. As to which one will be left on the ground I cannot say, but yo' can rest assured that only one will survive. I await yo'r answer, suh.'

"The gentleman was not present next mawning," continued the colonel as he reached for his glass, "and the Clarion contained a double headed editorial in which it stated that my election to the legislature was of more importance than anything else on the boards. It was a beautiful thing—a beautiful thing, suh—and it was only last week that I stood up at a bar with that same editor and touched glasses. He has been my friend for thirty years, suh, and he will continue to be. He simply made the mistake of not understanding me at the outset.

"And there was the editor of the Banner—of the Banner, suh. I had made a speech in the legislature advocating state protection for the catfish of our rivers and bayous. It was needed, suh. The catfish is the pore man's beef and mutton. Its skin could be turned to a dozen uses. Its very bones are of value. He was being caught in such numbers that in another decade he would have been extinct when I introduced a bill for his protection. I had certain statistics and facts to offer, and the bill went through. The editor of the Banner, standing entirely alone, referred to me as Colonel Catfish Bunker and suggested that I draft bills to protect frogs and gallinippers. I was on my way to his office for an interview when I met him on the statehouse steps.

"'Mistah Blank,' said I when we had been introduced and shaken hands, 'will yo' have half an hour to spare during the day?'

"'I will,' he replied.

"'Then, suh, at what particular hour will it be most convenient for yo' to receive my friend, Majah Worthington? Shall we say 3 o'clock this evening?'

"'What is the majah's object in calling?' he asked as he looked at me rather queerly.

"'To arrange our little affair, suh—our little affair. The choice of weapons will rest with yo', of co'rse, but I hope yo' can name an early hour.'

"There was no meeting," said the colonel as he emptied his glass and set it down with a sigh. "The editor was taken with a chill that day and could not see callers, and next day the Banner devoted two columns of space to my catfish bill and declared that it was the wisest measure of the whole session. Many were the poker games I sat in with that editor in after years, and it was my painful pleasure, suh, so to say, to be one of his pallbearers five years ago. It was simply that he didn't size me up correctly at the start.

"And I direct yo'r attention, suh," resumed the colonel after his glass had been refilled—"I direct yo'r attention to my little misunderstanding with the editor of the Courier. I was a judge on the bench at the time, and the Courier found fault with my ruling in a certain case. Indeed, suh, the paper went so far as to question my legal abilities to decide on such a farreaching matter and to advise an appeal from my rulings. I made it my business to drop in on the editor, and as he received me I said:

"'Yo' have expressed doubts as to my legal wisdom, suh, but there is a little matter on which I desiah yo' to satisfy yo'rself to the fullest possible extent.'

"'And what may that be?' he asked.

"'As to my shooting, suh. In order that yo' may discover for yo'rself that I am neither cross eyed nor nearsighted I suggest that yo' name a friend to arrange details with a friend I shall name.'

"'Is it a duel, colonel?'

"'It is, suh.'

"He was no fishworm, that editor," said the colonel. "On the contrary, he was a game man. He dismissed me with all due courtesy, and an hour later the details of our duel were arranged. He selected pistols, made his will and was on the ground ahead of me at sunrise. He had been reflecting during the night, however, and befo' the pistols were handed out to us he approached me and said:

"'Colonel Bunker, while this affair must go on and while I shall probably leave the ground alive, I wish to say in justice to both of us that a closer reading of yo'r decision has convinced me that yo' could have made no other. It is a wise and just decision, suh, as the Courier will state tomorrow, and all praise is due yo' for yo'r patient and painstaking investigation. Now, let us proceed to shoot each other.'

"But we didn't proceed, suh—we didn't proceed," sighed the colonel as he reflected on the saving of powder and lead. "When the editor finished his remarks, my hand went out in greeting, and ten minutes later we were crooking our elbows in unison. Each of us made a stanch friend, suh—a friend for years to come—and I can't say that I have ever been sorry it turned out that way.

"Great weather this for evaporation, and I find my glass empty again."

M. QUAD.

Revenge Is Sweet.

James, four years old, had been naughty to the point of evoking a whipping from his long suffering mother, and all day long a desire for revenge rankled in his little bosom.

At length bedtime came and kneeling before her he implored a blessing for each member of the family individually, she alone being conspicuous by her absence. Then, rising from his devout posture, the little supplicant fixed a keenly triumphant look upon her face, saying as he turned to climb into bed:

"I s'pose you noticed you wasn't in it."—Harper's Magazine.

Got the Worst of It.

A prominent Philadelphia clergyman tells this story on himself: "It was Sunday morning, and I had started for church. The family were preparing to follow when the youngest, a five-year-old, protested, 'I do not want to go to church.'

"'I don't feel much like it myself, Fred, this morning,' replied his mother, 'but we must go. Father has to go—has gone already, and he has to preach.'

"'Yes,' said Fred, unconvinced, 'but we have to listen, and that's worse.'"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Anxious to Know.

"I find," he said, "that by studying myself I can pretty well detect and estimate the foibles of others."

"But how," she asked, "do you find out about the virtues of others?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

She Had Nine.

Agent—Madam, I called to insure your life.

Mrs. Katt—Which one?—New York Times.

She Couldn't Wait.

Flubdubbe—When Dashitall called upon his fiancee the other evening, he discovered her kissing another fellow.

Pinhedde—What did he do?

Flubdubbe—Apologized for being late.—New York Herald.

A Friendly Condescension.

"Didn't I hear the cook call you by your first name?"

"Don't say a word. She only does that when she is good natured."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Others Have Been Puzzled by It.

"I nebber kin figger it out," said Uncle Eben, "how some o' dese folks dat talks so much about 'spisin' wealth kin be so willin' to borry two bits."—Washington Star.

I Hear Thee—Do You.

He poured into my tired ears
The burden of his woes and fears.

He hit my left auricular
About some love particular.

And then he swatted in my right
Some panacea soaked with blight.

Ah! Next he danced upon my head
And shrieked about the hope that's dead.

He played a tattoo on my nose
About some old forgotten throes.

He gripped me by the throat and yelled
Concerning sins ago I quelled.

And then he yanked me from the deep;
I had been talking in my sleep.
—Horace Seymour Keller in New York Herald.

Too Late to Seek Revenge

One day a man and a woman entered Four Mile Bend on horseback, and the woman got down and asked one of the miners if there was a man named Sam Brown in camp.

"We buried him only three days ago," was the reply. "Was he related to you?"

"Yes, somewhat related."

"Well, all your weepin' won't bring him back to earth. Sorry for you, but"—

"Weep!" she shouted as she flourished a club over her head. "Do I look like a woman who'd be a-weepin' fur any sich critter as Sam Brown? He left me back in Iujiany two y'ars ago and hasn't writ me a word or sent me a dollar, and I cum out yere to take him by the h'ar and club him till he couldn't holler. So he's dead, eh?"

"Gone to his reward, ma'am."

"And he didn't leave nuthin' behind?"

"Not a shillin'. I hev jest written you a letter to notify you of the sad tragedy and to say that he died with your name on his lips."

"Humph! Waal, I don't want no letter, and as fur my name on his lips, I'd 'a' made him yell it all over camp if I'd got here a leetle sooner! I married ag'in a y'ar ago, and my husband's over thar, but I jest wanted to wollop Sam Brown black and blue for old times' sake and let him know that I wasn't sheddin' any tears on his account. So he's dead, eh?"

"Yes, ma'am, and I guess it's lucky fur him that he is."

"You bet it is," replied the woman, and she shouldered her club, lifted her skirts and walked back to her horse and husband.

A Good Guess.

"I say, Freddie, you couldn't lend me fifty, could you?"

"You guessed right, old chap. I couldn't."—San Francisco Examiner.

Against Improvements.

Tommy had been a town mouse all his little life up to the present year, but work had been plentiful with dad, who was discussing with his wife the desirability of sending Tommy for a week into the country. Tommy listened thoughtfully and at length broke in:

"I don't want to go."

"Why not?"

"'Cause I've heard they have thrashing machines in the country, and it's bad enough here in town, where it's done by hand."—London Spare Moments.

Not So Bad as That.

"Marie tells me that you and Arthur have quarreled."

"Yes, we have—the detestable cur! I shall never speak to him again—never! I hate him!"

"Dear me! And did you tell him never to set foot in the house again?"

"Oh, no. If I had told him that he wouldn't have come back any more for a month. You have no idea how stubborn that boy is."—Kansas City Journal.

Living Drama.

"I am supposed to die of a broken heart," said the unmanageable actress. "Now, how am I to know how a person with a broken heart behaves?"

"I'll tell you what to do," answered the cold blooded manager. "You study the author of this play after he sees your first performance of it."—Atlanta Constitution.

A Short Life.

Old Adviser—Well, auntie, can't you live on the interest of the money your old man left you?

Auntie—No, indeed, suh. If I had to live on dat, dere would be a crape on my door next week, suh.—Toledo Blade.

We Paid $100,000

FOR THE RIGHTS TO LIQUOZONE FOR THE UNITED STATES.

This company is composed of business, professional and medical men of ability. Does anyone suppose that we would pay $100,000 for a newly discovered product, without knowing to a certainty that it does kill germs, and cures every germ disease?

Before making the purchase we tested Liquozone for two years—in thousands of difficult cases. Then we staked our fortune and our reputation on it. We can offer no better evidence that Liquozone does what we claim.

The world's best physicians, and the world's best hospitals, are today employing it.

WE OFFER $1,000

to the physician or scientist who discovers a disease germ that Liquozone can't kill. And if such a germ is discovered we will publicly announce the fact.

We never wish to claim that Liquozone cures a disease if the germs of that disease can't be killed by it.

Liquozone is simply liquid oxygen; no drugs, no alcohol in it. It is the discovery of Paul!—the great German chemist—who spent 20 years on it. His object was to get such an excess of oxygen, in staple form, into the blood, that no germ could live in any membrane or tissue.

Liquozone does that. We spend 14 days in making every bottle of it, and the result is a certain germ-killer which can be taken into the blood to go wherever the blood goes.

LIQUOZONE KILLS ALL GERMS.

Any drug that kills germs is a poison to you, and it cannot be taken internally. All that medicine can do for a germ disease is to aid Nature to battle with the germs.

Liquozone goes directly to the cause of these diseases, and destroys it. The results are absolutely certain, for Liquozone never fails to kill germs.

And it kills them with oxygen only—a tonic to you—a necessity—the very source of vitality. It kills them because germs are vegetables; and an excess of oxygen, while life to an animal, is deadly to vegetable matter.

Liquozone is the only way known to kill germs in the body without destroying the tissues, too.

DISEASES DUE TO GERMS.

These are some of the known germ diseases. Liquozone has cured each of these diseases at least veseral hundred times—some of them thousands of times. We know from vast experience that Liquozone cures every disease in this list, and cures it completely and forever. We will send you evidence enough if you will write us.

THE FIRST BOTTLE FREE.

If you have a germ trouble, and you doubt that Liquozone cures it, fill out this coupon. We will then send you an order on your druggist for a full-size bottle free.

We would much rather pay for the first bottle ourselves than have anyone who needs Liquozone go without it. And every person needs it some time. This is not a medicine. It is nothing but oxygen—just the vital element of air.

Liquozone is sold by all druggists in two sizes—50c and $1.00 per bottle.

AFFECTS INDIANA FACTORIES.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 7.—The order of the American Window Glass company to close its plants will affect eight or ten factories in Indiana in which 4,000 men are employed. The independent and co-operative companies say the order will not affect their operations. They say for the American company to force its men into idleness means that many new co-operative companies will be formed. It is said that Indiana will have thirty of these within two years. The American has glass blowing machines in its plants at Gas City and Alexandria, where experiments have been made for some time.

BIG STRIKE COMING ON.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 7.—A general strike is likely to be ordered by the aNtional Union of Elevator Constructors, owing to alleged discriminations in Pittsburg. Should this be the case the constructors here will not receive the support of the building trades. The local of this city violated a ruling of the building trades council over a strike on the Farmers' bank building. The Fuller company abided by the decision with the result that the national is considering a strike on all jobs controlled by that concern. It is said that Frank Feeney, of Philadelphia, business agent of the elevator constructors' union, and president of the central labor union, is coming to this city to investigate the trouble.

ARE KEEPING IT QUIET.

A fight between a bull dog and a badger is scheduled for tonight, but the promoters are keeping it quiet and The Sentinel readers are cautioned not to say anything for fear the police might get next. The badger is said to be the one that figured in a contest a week ago, when it cleaned up a bull dog in short order, and the select coterie that will witness tonight's contest are looking forward to much sport.

ANOTHER PROTOCOL SIGNED.

Washington, March 7.—Minister Bowen and Baron Moncheur this morning signed the Belgium protocol for the settlement of that country's claim against Venezuela. It follows the lines of the American protocol and provides that the queen of the Netherlands shall name the umpire for the commission.

The rattlesnake's rattle consists of a number of hollow, horny rings, somewhat like quill in substance and interlocked with one another, while they are so elastic as to permit of a considerable amount of motion between them. These rings are not indictive of age, as has been supposed, since in some years several appear, while in others only one ring may be developed.

LOCAL.

The Juniors are making great preparations for their rally, which is to be held tomorrow afternoon at half past 2, in the auditorium of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

This is their first rally and they are working hard to make it a success. A very interesting program has been arranged. There will be a boys' chorus, Miss Edith Nickel will sing "Tell me the Story of Jesus," Mr. Griswold, the News artist, will give an illustrated talk to the Juniors, and there will be other interesting numbers on the program.

The parents of the Juniors are very cordially invited to attend this rally, as so much depends on the hearty cooperation of the parents for the success of junior work. The Senior Christian Endeavors should also show their interest in this work by their presence.

The members of the "Newsboys' union" have been invited to attend the junior rally in a body tomorrow afternoon in Westminster Presbyterian church.

The Juniors wish, through this column, to invite all children, whether Juniors or not, to their rally tomorrow afternoon, at half past 2, in Westminster Presbyterian church.

The Juniors hope for a large attendance of the Seniors at their rally tomorrow afternoon. Don't disappoint them, Seniors, but go and show them, by your presence, that you are interested in them, and encourage those who have the work in charge. Aside from this, you may feel assured that you will be entertained.

The Junior Workers held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. A. K. Zartman, on East Washington street last Monday evening. The subject of "Organization" was discussed, and also different methods of keeping the pledge before the children. Junior work is growing in interest, but the great need is more earnest Seniors to take up the work.

The March meeting of the society of the First Presbyterian church will be held Friday evening, March 13th, at the home of the Misses Chapin, 16 Douglas avenue.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Meyer Bros. & Co.

A NIGHT AT THE PLAY

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL IN "THE JOY OF LIVING."

The Temple will have a splendid offering Monday night, when the famous English actress, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, appears under the direction of Charles Frohman, in her latest success, "The Joy of Living," a translation of Hermann Sudemann's great play, "Es Lebe das Leben," by Edith Wharton. Apart from the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Campbell, the occasion will be especially noteworthy for the German author's play is one of the distinctive literary achievements of recent times, and has excited a furore of discussion both in Europe, where originally produced, in Berlin and in New York, where it recently had its first presentation in English. The role of Countess Beata is admirably suited to Mrs. Patrick Campbell's striking personality, and her performance of it vividly reveals her best traits. It is a part that manifests her peculiar intellectual quality and throughout makes demands on her impressive sympathetic power. By sheer force of these qualities she almost reconciles one to Beata's psychological contradictions, and as one reviewer has tersely expressed it, "throughout she made Beata live."

The play is written on a very high plane, and the dialogue is masterly in its terseness and incisiveness, its repressions and implications. The action moves coherently and consistently with insight, truth and power. It treats of a vital moral question and proves the divine necessity which has ordained retribution for every offense against righteousness.

Mrs. Campbell will be supported by her London company.

The advance sale of seats for Mrs. Campbell's engagement has been one of the largest of the season, and insures her a most brilliant audience and a most successful engagement.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL A STRENUOUS WORKER.

Few persons realize the extraordinary amount of work performed by theatrical stars, especially when they assume the direction of their own productions. To this excessive amount of labor, this great strain of mental and physical effort, may be ascribed most of the stories of the breaking down of well known actresses recently reported in the newspapers. The production of one new play is usually a great trial to the vitality of an actor and doubly so to a woman. Of all the female stars now before the public there is probably none who so thoroughly delights in the labor of putting on new plays as the English actress, Mrs. Patrick Campbell. She is unceasing in her toil and not satisfied with her accomplishments in the long repertoire of plays, such as she presented here last season; she is always on the lookout for new plays. As they are usually of a very grave and serious character the mental strain is correspondingly great. She delights in work and finds her greatest pleasure in life in the theater. Though her present season is only a few months gone, she has already produced two new plays—"Aunt Jeannie," by E. F. Benson, and "The Joy of Living," by Hermann Sudermann. Those familiar with Sudermann's great drama can readily appreciate the vast amount of physical work which the rehearsals entailed, not to mention the long hours of study which the actress must have given to her own as well as to the other parts, to show clearly the full meaning of the author's intellectual purpose and his profound psychological analysis of a grave social topic. It simply meant several rehearsals the entire day for several weeks, with very short intervals for eating and none for diversion; a regular performance at night and long hours of midnight study after that in preparing herself for her own role. Despite this unending and unceasing labor Mrs. Campbell is already contemplating the production of other new plays this season. There is probably no other actress in the world, not even excepting Bernhardt and Duse, who have within so short a time presented so many new and worthy plays to the public.

STETSON'S "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."

The greatest success achieved in the last decade by any "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company is that won by Leon W. Washburn's which plays on Tuesday matinee and night at the Temple. Of all the dramatic successes known there are none that equals this great play. It is established in popular favor here as well as everywhere else, and needs no endorsement from other cities. Suffice it to say that it will be presented by an excellent company of fifty people and with new and elaborate scenery gotten up for this season's tour. A grand street parade will be given at noon on Tuesday.

"THE SUBURBAN."

Every season Jacob Litt makes some big production. Last year he presented "The Price of Peace" in gorgeous style in New York and Chicago, and the season before he gave "Hearts are Trumps" in conjunction with Charles Frohman. This year he is giving a stupendous production to C. T. Dazey's latest play, "The Suburban," which will be seen here at the Temple next Wednesday. The new play surpasses in splendor and elaborateness all his former efforts. In eleven scenes the play gives a good idea of New York and its environs, as some of the most famous places in the metropolis are shown in the progress of the play. For example, under the guise of the Transylvania club one of the great gambling resorts is seen; the Gordon mansion by the sea is a replica of one of the Gould homes on Long Island; the Gordon stables are from a photographic reproduction of the stables of Mr. Whitney, and the scenes in the paddock, at the grand stand and outside the gates at Sheepshead Bay are from photographic studies. Ernest Albert painted the latter scenes and the other artists engaged to paint the production are Homer Emens and J. J. Young.

VERA MICHELENA.
Prima donna in "The Princess Chic."

"THE PRINCESS CHIC."

The patrons of all that is best in the comic opera seem to have been awaiting the engagement of "The Princess Chic," which comes to the Temple next Thursday. This delightful opera comique, played by the Kirke La Shelle Opera company, is from the pen of Mr. La Shelle. Julian Edwards wrote the score and the success of the piece throughout the east and south this season would indicate the correctness of the extraordinary claims made for the production of the company. Although "The Princess Chic" aims higher than the average musical piece, still the ambition of the librettist to supply a theme of unusual beauty and historical interest has not lessened the comedy element which is uproariously assertive at all times. The beautiful and talented prima donna, Vera Michelena, sings the title role, and Joseph C. Miron, generally conceded to be America's greatest basso-comedian, is to be heard in the role of Brevet, the soldier of fortune in the piece. Mr. Miron created this part when the play was originally put on in New York, and is credited with having made the success of his career in it. The company contains many other names well known to the American operatic stage.

JOHN W. VOGEL'S BIG MINSTRELS.

A delightful surprise is in store for those theatrically inclined, for John Vogel's Big Minstrels are due at the Temple next Saturday matinee and night. Arthur Rigby will, of course, be the chief merrymaker

A SCENE IN "THE SUBURBAN."

on this occasion, and to our minds there is no comedian so well prepared to infuse spontaneous mirth as the genial Arthur. He has long held the premier place, and in this greatest of minstrel shows will clearly demonstrate his right to the title "Comedy King."

Crawford & Finning, those invincible and unapproachable musical comedians; Don Gordon, comedy trick cyclist; Brobst Brothers, the dancing dandies; the O'Brien troupe of acrobats, acrobatic marvels, in their peril-defying break-neck act; Charles Gano, the clever comedian and parodist, an unusually large singing contingent including the greatest minstrel basso in the world, Mr. Grant Merkley; Prof. Norton's double symphony orchestra, and many others comprise this large company of fifty-five members. The scenic equipment will be complete, the first part setting being more elaborate and costly than anything of the kind ever seen here. Two specially constructed cars are required to transport the people and effects of this mammoth organization.

FRANK DANIELS.

Frank Daniels has already been a thorough-going favorite here from the days when he used to appear as "Old Sport" in Hoyt's "A Bag Baby" and in "Little Puck." His appearances here in "The Wizard of the Nile," "The Idol's Eye" and "The Ameer," under Kirke La Shelle's management, have been marked by great prosperity and demonstrative enthusiasm, and the announcement of his appearance at the Temple, March 16, has already aroused much interest. His success elsewhere in his new operatic comedy, "Miss Simplicity," has been so marked that there has been no room for doubt as to the excellence of the performance and production, and much stress has been laid upon the striking beauty of the big chorus he carries with him this season.

THE PITTSBURG ORCHESTRA SOLOISTS.

The four soloists who will appear with Victor Herbert and his great orchestra when they appear at the Masonic Temple theater, matinee and Evening, April 23d, are all famous in the world of music. Luigi von Kunits, who is a Viennese, has one of the most costly "Strads." in the world, which he uses in all his concerts. Henri Merck, the 'cello soloist, once made a tour of the world with his instrument, playing with orchestras when he could find them. In this way he visited every country and all the great cities of the orient. Even before the Philippine islands were generally known of in America he had played with a native orchestra in Manila. Miss Anna Bussert, the beautiful young soprano with the orchestra, who is a native of Ohio and who has studied in London and Paris, has appeared before more rich people perhaps than any other singer except Patti. When in London there was scarcely a society function in which she was not one of the entertainers and during the past few seasons she has been doing similar work in New York. She is the youngest soprano who travels and constantly sings with a great orchestra. The pianist will be Mme. Jonas.

"ARIZONA."

Augustus Thomas' excellent play, "Arizona," returns to the Temple March 18 with the proud record of having played longer in New York city during the past year than any other dramatic production. "Arizona's" two long runs, one at the Herald Square theater and one at the Academy of Music, set a new pace for the dramatic managers and one which they will find it hard to follow with any of the attractions of this year's production. "Arizona" is one of the brightest, most interesting and most wholesome plays ever written by an American author.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM COMING.

William Faversham made an extraordinary record in "Imprudence" in New York, playing to as large audiences as the Empire theater could accommodate, and securing so complete a hit at each performance that everybody left the Empire captivated and delighted by his acting, and enthusiastic over the brilliancy and sparkle of the Esmond comedy. The Faversham audiences were as remarkable for their quality as for their size. So swell and dressy they were that a Broadway observer at this point, any evening of grand opera, would be inclined to say that all of New York's fashionables were dividing their attention between the Metropolitan Opera House and the Empire theater across the street. The women especially seemed to be anxious to show their appreciation of Mr. Faversham's fine work in the role of Jack Frere, for they not only chorused their admiration at the evening performances, but they flocked to the Empire in such numbers for the matinees that the house was not one-third large enough to accommodate them. Miss Fay Davis in the fresh and girlish role of "Billy" Marr, is also a potent factor in the production of splendid results of the "Imprudence" performances; and Hilda Spong, Jeffreys Lewis and the other members of the all-star cast, do their share of the admirable work which so completely and convincingly interprets this pretty love story. Mr. Faversham will appear at the Temple March 24.

A EUROPEAN TYPE.

Mme. Du Gasse, the French woman who was imprisoned for three days for driving her automobile at an illegal rate of speed, is known to many Americans, who travel abroad, says the New York Press. She belongs to that type of European who cultivates Americans, launches them socially and then lives on their bounty during their visit abroad. Mme. Du Gasse vacillates between London and Paris and in all the capitals seems to know intimately the best elements in society. She is easy of approach and takes the greatest interest in American women. If they are in Europe with social advancement at heart and equipped with a liberal income Mme. Du Gasse becomes a stanch friend and overwhelms the little American with the titled friends she knows. She will present a Russian prince, an English lord or a French marquis and then will join the American in her trip. By means of these introductions Mme. Du Gasse travels abroadAmerican yachts throughout the summer. Mme. Du Gasse is a widow, and rumor has it that she will wed the Prince de Saguin. She is a "showy" woman with straw-colored hair, and may be recognized by an enormous diamond pendant that she wears in the evening suspended on her forehead. She is an indefatigable automobilist, and in the famous race from Paris to Berlin two years ago Mme. Du Gasse was the only female contestant. There were 90 entries and she finished in seventeenth place. She is an excellent whip and horsewoman.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much as it is to love the beautiful and pure. The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This great and wonderful remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering.

Something Extraordinary.

Bird Island, Minn.

Since Sept., 1890, our daughter had spells of unconsciousness, sometimes four times a day and sometimes as high as seven times. She was for a time very cross and irritable, lost her red cheeks, became thin in flesh, and her mind gradually failed. An eminent specialist treated her nearly one year without any effect. Instead of improving, she became worse, then we tried Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic. In a few weeks she showed improvement and since March, 1893, has not had a symptom of the disease, is now in good health and flesh, and completely herself again. There is something extraordinary about Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic to effect such a wonderful cure of such a tenacious disease.

A MOTHER'S PRAYER.

Appeals Which She Made for Her Father, Husband and Son Fell Upon Deaf Ears.

The following tragic story and thrilling appeal of a wife and mother was sent to the editor of the New York Daily American, and with his permission we give it to our readers. It tells its own story and breathes its own prayer, and with the writer we echo the prayer: "Oh, Lord, how long, how long!"

As the daughter of a drunkard, the wife of a drunkard and the mother of a drunkard, I trust I may have some claim to enter into the discussion now going on in the American on the evils of intemperance. I have read every article published with absorbing interest, and so far have seen no ideas advanced that give a practical view of the question by which the actual sufferers, "the man who drinks" and those most closely related to him, can be saved and helped and protected.

That the conditions surrounding the sale of liquor are the basis of all the evils following upon this terrible habit I prove in my own family: I have a son and a daughter, both of the same temperament, with the same inherited tendencies. The daughter has been shielded in a great measure from the temptations that beset my son, and so has escaped the terrible evil that has blighted the manhood of her brother. At the age of 30 my son is a wreck. His fine intellect is clouded, his life purposeless and vain.

He has been sent to sanitariums, has been given hypnotic treatment, has taken cures innumerable, but because at every corner, going up the "L" stairs, coming down the "L" stairs, crossing the streets, taking an afternoon walk—all have the one path at the end of which glimmers the "red light" luring him into the saloon with its tempting warmth, its cheering glass, and he is utterly powerless, with his weakened will, to rehabilitate himself in the garments of sobriety.

With this menace crouching at the door of every daughter, wife and mother, I read in one of the articles a few days ago a luke-warm advocacy of prohibition, in which the conveniences of the toilets for men and the advantageous results to merchants while the drummer drank his glass of beer with a prospective customer over the bar, were actually made to counterbalance the sighs and groans of the thousands of women and children who were starved, beaten, murdered and outraged by means of the saloons.

Toilet conveniences for men and trade for merchants against the souls of God's innocent creatures!

The druggist who sells a poison is made to enter the name and address of the purchaser in a book. If the purchaser dies the name of the druggist is given an unpleasant notoriety. This very notoriety makes both the would-be suicide and the druggist hesitate. It takes time to make these entries, true, but if the poison could be easily purchased, no precautions taken, there would be an increase in the number of suicides that would appall the world.

If a man drinks liquor until he is maddened and murders his child, tears out the eyes of his wife and goes to the electric chair, the hand that sold that fatal draught is unknown and unrebuked. The wife has no redress, the little child, perhaps, cannot be buried, yet the toilet conveniences are necessary and admirable. It would cost the city less to put these conveniences at regular intervals on the thoroughfares, as in Paris, than to prosecute the drunkard for his crimes.

There is forced vaccination for the public good, despite individual protest. The names of all the children in the public school are registered, and if they are not vaccinated, they cannot receive educational advantages. These books are inspected every week, and the child not complying with these regulations is vaccinated by force. If there can be compulsory laws for the public good in one thing, why not in another? It is claimed that individual freedom cannot be interfered with. What about the "opium fiend," who has to beg, steal or get a doctor's prescription before he can procure his enervating drug?

From actual experience, I am ready to assert, and I expect to bring a howl about my ears, that as far as evil effects are concerned, the "opium fiend" is more to be desired than the drunkard. He alone suffers from his excesses. He seldom marries, so the evil tendency is not transmitted; he is quiet, seldom commits a crime, but simply dreams and sleeps. His whole life is a dull blur. Opium is food, drink, home, friend, wife and children. That he suffers, yes, suffers exquisite torture that no tongue can describe, is well known. But he suffers alone, in nine cases out of ten.

Some months ago it became necessary for me to go to a saloonkeeper and warn him against selling my son liquor. I had positive proof that my son was personally known to this man; that he ran small bills; that liquor was sold him when intoxicated. Yet this man declared he did not know him; that he never sold to an intoxicated man, and brought out witnesses to prove his statements. Yet in that man's pocket was my rent, food, clothes and my son's soul! But I had no redress!

I went to another saloonkeeper, and warned him. He also denied any knowledge of my son. Then I told him I had in my possession a pint flask with his name and number on it.

"Then," said he, frightened into confession, "when he comes in here again I'll kick him into the street!" But he didn't know him.

When the law requires that registration shall follow the purchase of a drink, and that these books shall be open to inspection so that in case of crime, suicide and other outrages, the district prosecutor will be able to hold the saloonkeeper as accessory to these crimes, then will our firesides be protected, our children clothed, and crime be unknown. The mutilation of these registers, or any erasures, should be made a penal offense, and all crimes committed could be traced to their rightful source. Only in publicity can the evils of intemperance be abolished. District Attorney Jerome, the Carrie Nation of gambling houses, splits open the doors of those evil doers, confiscates their goods, arrests the proprietors and patrons, arraigns them in our courts, convicts them, and sends them side by side to the prison, where they suffer their punishment together. But the "red light" of the saloon shines on and on and on, while thousands of men are on their road to hell by way of the electric chair, and millions of innocent victims are slaughtered before this juggernaut of state income and men's appetite.

Another thing, at the foot of every "L" station there is not one saloon, there are two, three, four. Not only are our sons tempted, but our daughters are insulted and outraged by the rowdies who lounge around the doors. They ogle the women who pass them on their way home; they use language that is only fit for the vilest resorts, and yet we are forced to submit to this because our legislators will not remove a menace, because men's appetites must be satisfied.

In summing up, make it possible for a mother to save her son, a wife her husband, a daughter her father, by some system of espionage by which the seller of the liquor is equally culpable with the drunkard.

Is there no way to help the weak, no way to save a besotted soul? And I sit in the shadow of horrors I can feel, and yet not avert, for law is against me, and I beat my breast and cry aloud: "O Lord, how long, how long!"

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for March 8, 1903—Paul at Ephesus.

THE LESSON TEXT.
(Acts 19:13-20.)

13. Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took upon them to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth.

14. And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, and chief of the priests, which did so.

15. And the evil spirit answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?

16. And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.

17. And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also dwelling at Ephesus; and fear fell on them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.

18. And many that believed came, and confessed, and shewed their deeds.

19. Many of them also which used curious arts brought their books together, and burned them before all men; and they counted the price of them, and found it 50,000 pieces of silver.

20. So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

As usual, Paul began his work in Ephesus with the Jews and proselytes in the synagogue. Remember that it was here that the Jews had asked him to stay longer when he stopped on his way to Jerusalem after the second journey. He evidently impressed them favorably, and that may in part account for the fact that he was able to work with them longer than usual before the rupture occurred. He preached in the synagogue three months. In Ephesus, as on other mission fields, Paul supported himself by working at his trade. When Paul finally left the synagogue he took a number who had become Christians with him. Ephesus, like Athens, had its scholars and philosophers who taught sometimes in a public hall devoted to that use, and sometimes in their own private lecture rooms. It is not easy to decide which was the case here, for some of the ancient manuscripts read, the school of Tyrannus, as in the revised version, favoring the view that the building was a public one, and called the "School of Tyrannus," while others read with the common version, the school of one Tyrannus, meaning of a certain man named Tyrannus. One of the manuscripts says that Paul used the building from 11 o'clock till four, that is, after the regular lecturer was through for the day. The teaching day at that time began very early and closed an hour before noon. Ramsay rather favors the second view, as probably representing what Luke actually wrote. Paul's work here continued for two years, and influenced the whole province of Asia, for Ephesus was a great commercial center, and no better place could be found from which to spread the Gospel. It is more than likely that the seven "Churches of Asia," addressed in Revelation, were a result of this period of Paul's work. The work outside of the city was probably pushed by his missionary companions and by many native helpers.

"Strolling Jews, exorcists:" The practice of "magic," socalled, was very common among the Jews in spite of the prohibitions in the Old Testament. These exorcists went about from place to place, claiming the power to work miraculous cures, and particularly to cast out the demons which in those days were supposed to dwell in those whom to-day we should call insane. They used charms of various kinds and repeated magical sentences, and evidently believed, from what they had seen of Paul's work, that the name Jesus was a magic word of unusual power. The experience of two of the sons of Sceva, for only two of them seem to have been connected with this incident, was a rebuke to such superstition not soon to be forgotten.

"Many also of them that had believed:" Showing how general such superstition had been in Ephesus. "Fifty thousand pieces of silver:" These magic books, or rolls, made by hand, of course, have always been very costly. The pieces of silver were probably denarii, and the denarius was the average price of a day's work. By burning their books the Christians put temptation behind them, and prevented the possibility of returning to their demoralizing practices, showing their sincerity and their wisdom.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

The more boldly one testifies for Christ the greater number of converts he will secure.

People still need to be reasoned with and persuaded as to the things concerning the Kingdom of God.

To invoke the name of Jesus insincerely is to arouse evil, not to drive it out.

The Gospel arouses the consciences of men so that they confess their evil deeds and abandon them.

The Gospel forces no one to give up anything but that which is false and hurtful.

Christian Character.

To reject correction is to refuse wisdom.

Great sorrows expand the heart to receive great joys.

Humility is the secret of the steady head on the giddy heights.

God will always set the picture of character in a worthy chamber.

The salvation of this world waits for the surrender of our wills to God's.

Keep the Word in your heart and you can keep the world out of your life.

It is better to send a good name before us than to leave a large fortune behind.—Ram's Horn.

HINTS TO SWEETHEARTS.

Nature's intent is that the heart should be the fountain of joy for others. A walking tombstone is not an agreeable companion. It is a white-robed angel who strikes the marriage cup from the hands of young womanhood when it contains the poison of life instead of wedded joy. A man cannot tell a woman's love until he need that she show sacrifice for him, and no woman really loves a man, pretend as she will, until she enjoys to sacrifice for him.—Dr. Cortland Myers on Marriage.

Bowser Versus Webster

He Takes Issue With All Authorities on Subject of "Whortleberries," and Gets Into Trouble

[Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. BOWSER had been reading his evening paper for half an hour when he laid it down with the remark:

"Well, that's a queer name. Did you ever hear of whortleberries, Mrs. Bowser?"

"A thousand times over," she replied.

"Oh, you have? Well, you are ahead of me for once in your life. Perhaps you will enlighten me?"

"You have not only eaten them a hundred times, but I have no doubt you have picked many a pailful. Whortleberries, my dear, are what people generally call huckleberries."

"They can't be."

"But they surely are."

"I deny it. A huckleberry is a huckleberry and has been ever since any one heard of them. A whortleberry is an altogether different thing, whatever it is. I thought it queer that you should know more than I did about the matter."

"Now, don't make any mistake about the berries," protested Mrs. Bowser, though she realized that argument must lead to a family row. "There is no such fruit as huckleberries. The name is a corruption of whortleberries. Very few newspapers or circulars use the term 'huckle.'"

"You are wrong—a thousand times wrong," exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he walked about. "It has never been anything else but huckleberry since America was discovered. Now that I remember, I can inform you that whortleberries grow in India. I have seen a few preserved specimens. They grow on trees and are something like our peaches. A huckleberry, as you know, is a small black berry about as large as a buckshot. It will be well for you to remember this and not make any further mistakes."

"You have only to look in the dictionary to find that 'huckle' is a corruption of 'whortle' and that both terms relate to one and the same berry. Here, let me get it for you."

"What do I care about the dictionary? What I know I know."

"But let's see what it says."

"I don't care what it says. All the dictionaries in the world couldn't convince me that I was wrong."

Mrs. Bowser got down the unabridged and read:

"The whortleberry is a small round edible berry which is highly valued for food. The name huckleberry is now more common in colloquial language than whortleberry."

"Doesn't that prove my case?" she asked as she closed the book.

"Not by forty miles, madam," shouted Mr. Bowser. "The two are entirely distinct. One grows in America, the other in India."

"But Webster does not say so."

"What have I got to do with Webster or any other man? What I know I know. Furthermore, I will prove the huckleberry question right here in our own house. We'll see what the cook says."

The cook came up in answer to the bell, and Mr. Bowser asked:

"Sarah, you know what huckleberries are, of course?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"But did you ever see a whortleberry?"

"Yes, sir; they are the same thing."

"Eh! Eh! What's that?"

"The same thing, sir, begging your pardon. My brother once bet $10 that they were different, and he made a fool of himself and lost his money. Is that all, sir?"

There was a painful silence as the cook departed, and then Mr. Bowser stood up and hoarsely whispered:

"Woman, I see the conspiracy, but I will balk it. I presume you have even got the cat on your side."

"Why all this excitement over nothing?" asked Mrs. Bowser. "I'm sure we don't care whether it's whortle or huckle."

"But we do care," he persisted. "You have tried to make out that I am an ignoramus, and I propose to show you to the contrary. Within half an hour I will make you and your Webster's Dictionary look like 15 cents."

"What are you going to do?" she asked as he started down the hall.

"I am going to bring forty different people here to say that I am right. You sit right there, and you will hear from me in about ten minutes."

Mr. Bowser put on his hat and overcoat and went out, and he had scarcely got out of the gate when he met a pedestrian and accosted him with:

"Sir, you will pardon me, but I wish to ask you a question. What is the difference between huckleberries and whortleberries?"

"It's all in the pronunciation," replied the man.

"Then you insist that both are the same thing?"

"Certainly. Have you run across any idiot who disputes it?"

Mr. Bowser glared at him and walked on. At the corner he found a man leaning against the fence and said to him:

"I have a little bet on hand, and perhaps you can help me to win it. You have heard of huckleberries, haven't you?"

"I should remark," was the reply. "I was born on the edge of a huckleberry swamp, and I have picked a hundred bushels of them."

"Well, now, did you ever hear of whortleberries?"

"They are the same thing, old man—the same thing. It's all in the way you pronounce the name."

"But I contend that they are different," aggressively announced Mr. Bowser.

"No use, old man. A whortleberry is a huckleberry, and you can't make pumpkins of one and turnips of the other. I pronounce the name huckle. I like it. There's something soft and tender about it. At this very moment I'm waiting for my huckleberry who works in that house over there to appear and take a walk with me. It would take away half of my love if I had to call her my whortleberry. Better give it up and go home."

BOWSER WAS LYING IN THE SNOW WHEN HE OPENED HIS EYES, AND THE VENERABLE MAN WAS ALMOST OUT OF SIGHT.

But Mr. Bowser wouldn't. He sauntered down the street and passed three or four pedestrians and finally accosted a venerable looking man who had lived long in the world and eaten all sorts of berries.

"You—you know what a huckleberry is?" began Mr. Bowser.

"I think I do," slowly replied the venerable man after recovering from his surprise, "but if you have any game to play, don't take me for a fool."

"I have no game. I simply wish to settle a dispute. I contend that huckleberry and whortleberry are two different berries. The other party contends that they are the same thing."

"And who is the other party?"

"Well, it's my wife."

"I see. Well, I congratulate and pity her at the same time."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that she probably knows more than the average woman, but she has also got an ass for a husband."

"Look here, you old reprobate," shouted Mr. Bowser, "don't talk that way to me. I asked you a plain question, and"—

"And you are an ass, sir! Go home and acknowledge it to your wife."

"By thunder, but I allow no old he goat to call me names. I'll give you one minute"—

Mr. Bowser was lying in the snow when he opened his eyes, and the venerable man was almost out of sight. Five minutes later Mrs. Bowser heard the front door open, and she walked into the hall to see Mr. Bowser sneaking upstairs.

"Is it whortleberry?" she asked.

He didn't reply.

"Or is it huckleberry?"

He didn't even halt to look down. He had suddenly decided that the huckleberry season was over. M. QUAD.

"This," declared the eminent orator, "is the very key to the whole question."

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, March 9.—Wheat opened easier on lower cables and large world's shipments and initial sales on May were unchanged to a shade lower, at 74¾c to 74¾@74⅞c. There was considerable local selling on the bearish news, which resulted in May selling off to 74½c, but prospects of much colder weather and the strength in corn brought about a rally and the market held fairly steady around the opening figures. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 532 cars, which, with local recipts of 36 cars—none of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 568 cars, against 463 cars last week and 479 cars a year ago.

The market was unsettled throughout the latter part of the session and prices had a wide fluctuation, May selling off to 73¾c on a general selling movement. There was a rally toward the close and final figures were 74½, a loss of ⅛@⅜c for the day.

Lower cables caused an easy feeling in the corn market at the start and May was unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 47c to 47⅛c. A good general demand developed soon after the opening, which was aided by the announcement of the probable early opening of lake navigation and under this influence the market became quite strong, May advancing to 47⅝c. Local receipts were 339 cars, with two of contract grade.

The weakness in wheat affected corn temporarily, but the generally bullish sentiment prevailed and the close was strong, with May ⅜@½c higher, at 47½@47⅝c.

Oats opened steady, with only a fair trade, and the market lacked any early features. May was unchanged at 34⅝c, but firmed somewhat on the strength in corn. Local receipts were 266 cars.

Provisions opened firm on higher prices for hogs, May pork being unchanged at $18.35, and May lard was 5c higher, at $10.20, while ribs were up 2½c, at $9.95. The early trading was only moderate and the market held about steady.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, March 9.—The crumbling of prices in the closing dealings of Saturday's stock market and the announcement of the failure of a mercantile house after the close, caused some anxiety regarding the opening market this morning. The London quotations were eagerly scanned to find an indication of the probable course of the market. The moderate fall in prices of Americans there served to reassure sentiment here somewhat. The interval elapsed since Saturday was to the advantage of the market by affording time to learn exact details and thus avoid the danger of exaggerated rumors. The first quotation on the tape was of Manhattan, which was lifted 1¼ in the course of several transactions, but subsequent quotations of various stocks showed some wide declines and heavy offerings. The losses ran from 1 to 1⅝ in Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Rock Island, Southern railway, Erie, Texas and Pacific and Chicago Terminal. On the other hand the appearance on the tape of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and St. Paul showed powerful support of those stocks. Two blocks of 3,000 shares of Union Pacific sold at an advance of ⅝. Southern Pacific was run up ⅝ and St. Paul ⅝. The market was extremely feverish after the opening. Some stocks recovered and there were reactions at other points.

The market quotations showed a feverish ebb and flow, but steadied and became quiet before the end of the contested in a number of stocks. At first the weak stocks were inclined to hour. The decline was obstinately rally and the strong stocks to react but the pressure was sensibly relaxed after the accumulation of selling orders over Sunday was worked off. Some severe declines were made by special stocks. Colorado Fuel dropped 5⅛, Northwestern 3½, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis 3, New Jersey Central and St. Louis and San Francisco 2½ and Kansas and Texas preferred 2⅜. There were substantial rallies of 1 to 1½ in some of these. There were many losses of 1 to 2 on the decline.

The 7 per cent. call money rate disinclined the operators to follow the advance and the market showed hesitancy. Before noon Southern Pacific was lifted 1⅛ and Amalgamated a point over Saturday, and the market hardened in sympathy. There were some wide declines in the inactive list, New York Airbrake dropping 5½, Wheeling and Lake Erie first preferred 4⅞, North American 4¾, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Peoria and Eastern 4, Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred 3½, Lake Erie and Western 3 and New York, Chicago and St. Louis 2⅜. Commercial Cable sold at an advance of 4 points.

Bonds were weak at noon.

Slight reactions occurred here and there, but the main tendency was distinctly upward, led by Southern Pacific, with an urgent demand from the shorts. Prices quite generally got back to a parity with Saturday's close and in some instances notably above. Southern Pacific touched 62⅜, a rise of 3⅜, and Union Pacific advanced 2⅛, while Atchison, St. Paul, the Rock Islands, Illinois Central, Reading, Manhattan, Amalgamated and Sugar gained in the neighborhood of a point.

The rapidity of the rise in the Pacifics caused profit-taking sales by early buyers who considered the recovery too fast. The movement became feverish, Southern Pacific reacting to 61⅛, rebounding to 63¼, reacting to 62 and again rising to the top. Union Pacific touched 93¾ and St Paul and Missouri Pacific touched the best. St. Louis and San Francisco rose 2. The general market moved narrowly. The feverishness of the Pacifics caused hesitation.

A reaction of a point in Union Pacific carried the list backwards a fraction in sympathy. On the recovery Southern Pacific rose an extreme 4¾, St. Paul 2⅛, Manhattan 2¼ and Amalgamated 2⅛. There were advances in Pittsburg, C., C. & St. L of 3½ and Pacific Coast 2. Westinghouse Electric fell 5. Southern Pacific reacted 1¼ again.

The closing was dull and unsteady.

THE HUMBLE TOMATO.

Our grandmothers would not touch tomatoes; they knew them only as "love apples," a rather rank garden product. Yet last year, according to figures collected by the American Grocer, 240,000,000 cans of them were consumed in American households. How many were eaten raw with oil and vinegar and how many served to give a decorative effect to lunch or dinner tables as they nested red and appetizing on a foundation of green lettuce leaves with the yellow of the mayonnaise blending harmoniously in the color scheme, is a matter of conjecture. The figures about the canned consumption of them are sufficiently impressive, says the New York World.

The Spaniards found the tomato growing along with the potato in South America and took it to Europe, but it was slow in gaining popular favor. Now one year's product of the canning factories, estimated as worth 10 cents a can, represents more wealth than the Spaniards found in ther new Eldorado.

There is hardly a more interesting romance of industry than that of the once despised "love apple" becoming the corner stone, so to speak, of hundreds of factories, giving employment to thousands of men, supporting tin plate mills and distributing annually an immense amount of money through new channels. The freak of taste that removed the old ban from the tomato has been responsible for the acquisition of many fortunes.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, March 10.—Wheat opened firm on steady cables, May unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 74½c to 74⅝c. There was a good demand for both May and July at the start and the market held firm the first half hour, but later the demand diminished and May sold off to 74¼c. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 268 cars, which, with local receipts of 31 cars—none of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 399 cars, against 297 cars last week and 378 cars a year ago.

There was little interest manifested in trading throughout the session and the tendency was toward lower prices, fears of a bearish government report being the principal influence. May sold down to 74c and closed ⅛@¼c lower, at 47⅝@47½c.

Firm cables and unfavorable weather caused a strong opening in corn and May was a shade to ⅛@¼c higher, at 47⅜c to 47¾c. There was a good scattered demand for both May and July, the local crowd being the best buyers, and with limited offerings the market held firm. Local receipts were larger, at 494 cars, with three of contract grade.

Corn was easier under the same influence as affected the wheat market and the close was easy, with May ⅛c lower, at 47⅜@43½c.

Oats opened firm along with the strength in other grains, but the volume of trade was not large and with little support the market weakened, May selling down to 34½c, after opening unchanged to a shade higher at 34⅞@35c to 35c. Local receipts were 219 cars.

A small run of hogs and an advance of from 5c to 10c in prices at the yards imparted strength to provisions at the start and opening prices were higher, May pork being up 7½c to 10c, lard of from 5c to 10c in prices at the yards $18.40@1842½. May lard was 5c to 7½c, at $10.17½ to $10.20, and ribs were 2½c higher, at $10. There was a god general demand in lard and ribs, which held prices fairly firm.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, March 10.—The market opened weak under the influence of reports of renewed hostilities between large holders of Southern Pacific stock. That stock broke 1⅛ on the sale of 1,000 shares and Union Pacific lost ⅞. The declines elsewhere were fractional and there were a few small gains, but these were amongst the less important stocks.

Large purchasing orders appeared for some of the metal stocks, and their strength was diffused to some extent in the general market, checking the reaction. An advance in the price of pig lead was reflected by the rise of 1½ in Smelting preferred. Amalgamated also gained 1 and Anaconda 3 on the rise of copper. Elsewhere prices rebounded sharply. Sugar, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania, St. Paul and New York Central advancing a fraction above last night, while Southern Pacific and Union Pacific made substantial rallies. The higher level of prices invited renewed selling, which was concentrated against the Pacifics for a time, but soon extended all around. Most of the speculative favorites sold below their opening figures and showed little rallying power. Metropolitan Street Railway, Canadian Pacific and Rock Island lost 1. St. Louis and San Francisco 1¾ and Ice preferred 4 points.

The check to yesterday's recovery discouraged the buying demand and the market became dull and heavy for a time. A slump of 9½ in American Ice preferred and 4¼ in the common on light selling created a bad impression and soon afterward there was a plentiful spilling of stocks all around the room and some bad breaks in prices. Metropolitan Street Railway and Minneapolis and St. Louis dropped 2, Southern Pacific 2⅞, New York Central 2⅜, Delaware and Hudson and St. Louis and San Francisco 2¼, Rock Island 2⅛, Union Pacific 2, American Malting 1¾, the preferred 2¾, and many active stocks between 1 and 2 points. Amalgamated reacted 2⅝ and then rallied a point, as did New York Central and Southern Pacific, and the market rallied, but was very feverish. An advance of ½ in U. S. new 4's, of ¼ in old 4's, 5's and 3's registered, gave rise to some surmises of possible purchases of bonds by the treasury for the relief of the money market.

Railroad bonds were lower at noon.

Prices held fairly well at the noon rally. No attempt was made to increase the recovery, bull operators being contented to hold the list steady so as to invite further liquidation and bear selling. Pennsylvania weakened decidedly at 1 o'clock and sold well under the forenoon lowest. American Ice rallied 1½ and the preferred 2½.

Pennsylvania broke to 142¼ and St. Paul, the Pacifics, New York Central and other active stocks fell lower than before. Covering of shorts caused rallies later, but the improvements were slight except in a few cases, and were followed by dullness. Southern Pacific and New York Central rallied a point. American Grass Twine lost 2½, Pacific Coast and North American 3, Steel Foundry preferred 4½, Minneapolis and St. Louis and Michigan Central 5 and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg 5½.

The bears had sold freley during the day and their covering to take profits resulted in a generaly rally, which reached 2 in Southern Pacific and Metropolitan Street Railway, and between 1 and 2 for the principal speculative stocks. Keokuk and Des Moines rose 4, Virginia-Carolina Chemical dropped 2 ½and Linseed preferred 4. The buying slackened at the advance and there were fractional recessions. In the final dealings St. Paul dropped to near 166 and the whole market quickly crumbled to about the low level of the day.

The closing was active and weak.

CABINET MEETING BRIEF.

Washington, March 10.—Today's session of the cabinet was comparatively brief and unimportant. All the members were present except Secretaries Hay and Root, both of whom are absent from the city. Secretary Moody and Postmaster General Payne will leave this afternoon for an extended trip to the West Indies. As they will be absent for several weeks both of them cleared up some pending departmental matters of minor importance. Secretary Shaw discussed with the president and the cabinet the existing financial stringency in New York and the advisability of the treasury taking some action to relieve it. At the conclusion of the meeting Secretary Shaw declined to discuss the situation for publication.

ANXIETY FOR STEAMER.

Glasgow, March 10.—Some anxiety is felt here for the safety of the Anchor steamer Ethiopia, which sailed from here February 21 for New York and is now five days overdue at the latter port. She has on board a number of passengers and has not been reported since she passed Inishtrahull, Ireland, February 22.

New York, March 10.—Officials of the Anchor line say there is no occasion for anxiety over the Ethiopia. They say the steamer is a fourteen-day boat during winter and that therefore she is but two days overdue.

LOCATED THE BULLET.

H. H. Studebaker, of Bluffton, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of having a bullet in his body located by the X-ray apparatus. Mr. Studebaker is connected with a bank in Bluffton and several months ago he was shot in the leg by a 32-calibre revolver, which he dropped on the floor accidentally while examining the weapon. The bullet entered at the knee and ranged upwards and was located by the X-ray apparatus near his hip. After being satisfied as to the location of the bullet and that he would suffer no ill consequences from it, Mr. Studebaker secured a copy of the plate and returned home.

SHIPYARD STRIKE SPREADS.

New York, March 10.—The strike inaugurated some time ago by the boilermakers and iron workers in the shipyards of Townsend & Downey, on Shooters Island, today extended to other yards and allied trades. Some seventy-five painters in the Townsend & Downey yard quit work. The carpenters and other mechanics are still at work, but will meet tonight to decide upon what course they will follow. The boilermakers and iron fitters employed by the Burles Dry Dock and Shipbuilding company, at Port Richmond, went out in sympathy with the Townsend & Downey strikers.
